PETTERS' FOE SLAIN IN PARK

Today

Enjoy a Car Now.
A Large Red Bull.
A Monkey House League.
Selfishness, a Power.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

IN BIG cities hundreds of thousands went for their holiday in automobiles. A philosopher said, "Most of the cars are not paid for. In thousands of cases they represent money that might have meant independence in old age."

THE automobiles represent money spent for health, pleasure and time saving NOW. Not one in ten is really independent in old age, nor was he before automobiles came.

Better buy a car, enjoy it, and use the added health and time saved to work for independence. No car, wisely used, ever made a man poor.

IT IS hard to keep prices up when goods are plentiful. That applies to a merchandise called "money."

Big boys, seeking to check stock gambling among little boys, put call money up to 10 per cent. Immediately, money poured into Wall Street from the West, New England and Europe, and the rate dropped to 5 per cent.

The New York Clearing House broke all records on Tuesday, with clearings of two thousand, four hundred and thirteen millions. We have lots of money.

BIG men say brokers' loans must drop $800,000,000 more to make things safe, which is childish.

In proportion to total values brokers' loans are not high. They are lower, proportionately, than in any other line of business.

The so-called big men are really little men, as you realize when you meet any of them, and they can't get used to the bigger figures that came after the war.

PS.—If you are short of stocks —which is always foolish, look out for a large red bull that may cross your path. He's not far away.

THE League for Sexual Reform gathered in Copenhagen, says it will "free human beings from the feeling of sin and crime in the field of their deepest emotions." In this part of the world many are doing well in that direction without help from any league.

IT HAS taken human beings a million years to acquire elementary ideas of decency and, unfortunately, no league is needed to put them back where they were.

Such a league should meet in the monkey house, with object lessons close at hand.

BOLSHEVISM gave peasants the land, taking it from worthless nobles. That suited the peasants.

The Bolshevism told the peasants how much they might charge for their crops, how much they must bring to the cities, etc. That did NOT suit the peasants. They cut down wheat acreage, causing dangerous shortage, and Russia is looking everywhere for cash wheat, with immediate delivery, and ships to carry it.

You cannot safely interfere with man's most important mainspring, which is SELFISHNESS.

HOPE springs eternal. And fortunately for human beings, a majority of us "listen with credulity to the whispers of fancy, and pursue with eagerness the phantoms of hope; expect that age will perform the promises of youth, and that the deficiencies of the present day will be supplied by the morrow."

In Reno, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., recently divorced, married a charming lady, divorced the day before.

POLISH air pilots strike for higher wages, first strike of that kind in history. It is hard to realize that fliers will some day be more numerous than railroad conductors.

RADICALS gathered in Wall Street before Morgan & Co.'s office carrying banners demanding "Freedom for Our Black Brothers in Haiti." They bit one policeman's thumb, 16 were locked up.

Wall Street is too busy to receive radicals cordially. It is not exactly a radical moment in the nation's history. To talk about giving liberty to somebody makes you sound like Rip Van Winkle.

ITALIAN aviators undertaking the longest ocean flight on record, 4,625 miles to Brazil, rose into the air with 2¼ tons of fuel after a mile run.

They were seen flying high over Gibraltar. Imagine one of the early Phoenician trader-pirates going through the Mediterranean gate into the Atlantic looking up from his low deck and seeing the fliers above him. Progress is real.

205 LIVES TAKEN BY 'FOURTH'

CHICAGO, July 5.—(AP.)—The lives of 205 men, women and children were a nation's sacrifice to the celebration of its one hundred and fifty-second birthday anniversary yesterday.

Fireworks claimed their share of victims, as they always have since the United States first began observing Independence Day with skyrockets, pin wheel and cannon cracker. There were 11 such deaths in the entire country, according to the Associated Press tabulation.

Lakes and rivers, however, exacted the heaviest tribute of human life during the holiday, 106 drownings being reported. Motorcar deaths ranked next with 54. Heat claimed 12 lives and lightning three. Four were killed in plane crashes. In addition there were 15 deaths attributed to other causes directly connected with America's observance of the Fourth.

The Middle Atlantic states and the midwest had more than half the country's total deaths for the day. In the former there were 68 fatalities, which was five more than occurred in the midwest.

Everywhere through the midwest the temperature was high, contributing both to deaths by heat and by drowning.

The airplane accidents were at Joliet, Ill., where a pilot and two passengers plunged to death when the wing of their plane snapped, and at Beaumont, Tex., where one was killed.

Three of the motor car deaths came in races drivers being killed in Oregon, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

The number of persons injured, many probably fatally, ran into the thousands. Premature explosion of a truckload of fireworks at Lamar, Mo., injured 25 persons as 5,000 gathered in the public square to witness the display. In the larger cities the hospital list of persons hurt during observance of the day ran into the hundreds. Chicago, with an ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks, echoed all day with firecracker explosions, and reports from police and hospitals that the number injured was probly greater than in recent years.

Petters' Foe Slain

Petting parties were blamed for the murder today of Lawrence Frankowski, 65, night watchman in the city's Herron Hill Park. Found unconscious in a secluded spot in the park early today, Frankowski died at noon in St. Francis Hospital, his skull fractured.

Charles R. Czapiewski, son-in-law, who lived with Frankowski at 3459 Milwaukee street, said the watchman had constantly broken up petting parties in the park and he attributed the attack to a revengeful member of such a party.

On his death bed Frankowski was unable to give detectives any clue. The deep wound in the back of his head showed that he had been attacked from behind.

Mother's Cries Lose Boy Life

A mother's scream led to the death of a son by drowning at Holobar's Beach, Meadville, yesterday.

Nicholas Gaber, 10, of 832 Mt. Joseph street, Pittsburgh, fell into the waters and sank once. Flora, 13, a sister, going to his rescue, grabbed him but became frightened when their mother screamed and released her grip.

The brother and sister were pupils at St. Basil's school, Pittsburgh. The mother, Mrs. Anna Gaber, is a widow.

FLIER SAVES LIFE OF MAN IN SEA'S GRIP

LONG BEACH, Wash., July 5.—(AP.)—A life preserver dropped by the pilot of an airplane who had seen his plight in the surf, yesterday saved the life of Clarence Wheaton, of Independence, Mo., when he was caught by treacherous currents quite a distance off shore here. Friends had tried in vain to reach the drowning man from shore. Two aviators, Derock and Monroe, seeing the struggling man, dropped him a life preserver, which Wheaton grasped and held until reached by a boat.

Buc, Giant Game Is Off

The opening game of the Pittsburgh-New York series scheduled at Forbes Field this afternoon was called off this morning because of rain.

The postponed game will not be played off until the Giants make their last visit of the season in Pittsburgh, Pirate officials announced.

Manager Donie Bush, displeased over the showing of his club, this morning announced that he would change his batting order for the first battle with the Giants tomorrow. Sparky Adams will lead off, replacing Lloyd Waner, who will bat second.

Fred Fussell was scheduled to oppose the Giants today and will likely be the mound assignment for tomorrow's contest.

Crowds Fail to Appear, Dawes Ducks Speech

EVANSTON, Ill., July 5.—(AP.)—There wasn't much of a crowd at Evanston's civic celebration of Independence Day, so Evanston's leading citizen, Vice President Charles G. Dawes, did not make his scheduled address. Neither did Mayor Bartlett.

The Vice President and the Mayor headed an automobile parade to Boltwood Park, where a reviewing stand had been erected for the day's speechmaking. Only about 200 persons, however, followed.

It was then announced that the program would proceed without speeches. Mr. Dawes and Mr. Bartlett went home.

DANCERS HERE PASS 522 HRS.

With all marathon dance records smashed and a new mark of 522 hours hung up at 3 p. m. today, seven couples on the floor at Duquesne Garden shuffled on as loyal friends swelled the ranks of spectators, all-night watchers of the weird and monotonous drag.

They were same seven couples who had held the floor Tuesday morning. Throughout the holiday they kept going and last night they had a big audience when the storm drove Fourth of July celebrators indoors. The weary hoofers were heartened by special prizes and extra bank rolls offered by admiring friends.

28 STILL SHUFFLE

Even yesterday's cloudbursts failed to daunt the 14 remaining couples in the marathon at Olympia Park, McKeesport. While autos and foot bridges in the part were being swept away the dancers danced nonchalantly on, so that they had completed 88 hours at 3 p. m. today.

In Stahl Gardens, Homestead, the quest for marathon fame found 14 couples having completed 212 hours at 3 p. m.

Pay of Dancers: 15 Cts. an Hour For 367 Hours

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 5.—Greensburg's 11 marathon dancers were forced to quit when Mayor Harry N. Yont revoked a permit Monday night after 367 hours, received $47.40 each for their two weeks' efforts, or slightly more than 15 cents an hour.

HEAT FELLS BALL FAN, DIES SOON AFTERWARD

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 5.—While attending a baseball game yesterday at Willow Grove, south of this city, Walter S. Wigley, 54, was overcome, apparently by the heat, and a heart attack. He died while being taken to the New Castle Hospital.

Death Trails Storm

The furious rains of Independence Day, while apparently spent today, left disaster in the trail in the Pittsburgh district.

One death from drowning was caused by the flood and a number of rescues were made.

Peter Petrocsko, 45, of 222 Raspberry way, Duquesne, was drowned in his home at 11 o'clock last night, when Bull Run, a Mifflin township rivulet, transformed into a river by the storm, engulfed the house.

Petrocsko's dwelling stands near an embankment of the Union Railroad, which, serving as a dam, backed up the water of Bull Run until it rose to the second story of the house.

FATHER DROWNS

Petrocsko and his son Peter, who lived with him, were salvaging the furniture, carrying it from the first floor to the second. According to the son, Petrocsko opened the kitchen door and the flood burst in with such violence that he was crushed to the floor.

By the time the son was able to pull the man out of the water he was dead.

Petrocsko leaves a wife and two daughters in Hungary. He was employed by the Carnegie Steel Company at its Duquesne works.

Allegheny county, notably McKeesport and Becks Run, cowed under the torrents that came down. How many thousands of dollars are represented by the toll of damage will not be determined for weeks.

The human suffering that accompanies a great flood was portrayed in miniature by those who live in Mifflin township. Scores of families along the Pittsburgh-McKeesport boulevard huddled in the attics of their homes while angry waters reached above their cellars. A dozen families in Beck's Run feverishly gathered their valuables and rushed from the lowlands while the torrents of destruction showed no signs of abating.

Landslides swept away threescore autos, rushes of mad water toppled down retaining walls, tore up trolley tracks and settled in the cellars of hundreds of business properties in downtown Pittsburgh and a dozen nearby towns. Two airplanes were carried down by the

NEARING GOAL

The Italian Savoia plane bearing Capt. Arturo Ferrarin and Maj. Carlo P. Del Prete, the aviators who recently broke all sustained continuous flight records, rapidly nears the Brazilian coast today. The plane took off from Rome Tuesday and has been making headway almost constantly at a speed of 110 miles per hour. The flight, slightly more than 4,600 miles, is the most ambitious non-stop ever attempted. A few more hundred miles and the ship should reach Brazil, where it will land at Rio de Janeiro or Pernambuco. Arrow shows its approximate position.

International News Service.

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 5.—The Italian seaplane in which Capt. Arturo Ferrarin and Maj. Carlo Del Prete hopped off at Rome to make a nonstop trans-Atlantic flight to Brazil, had reached the Brazilian coast this afternoon, and was headed southward toward Rio de Janeiro. A report that the plane had landed was proved untrue by advices from Natal and Pernambuco. The Olinda Radio Station, at Pernambuco, sent a wireless call to the plane shortly after noon requesting its exact position.

Preparations are under way to give the aviators a tumultuous reception when they arrive here. They are due this evening, barring bad weather or mechanical trouble.

It was first reported that the airmen would land at Natal or Pernambuco to refuel, but a later radiogram from the plane said the flyers would try to make Rio de Janeiro without a stop if their gasoline held out.

A fleet of 10 Brazilian army and navy planes will go out to escort the Italian plane to Campo Dos Afonzos, the military air field, 10 miles from the city.

"ALL'S WELL"

Representatives of the federal government, the state and the city, as well as the Italian ambassador, will great Ferrarin and Del Prete.

A telegram from Pernambuco at 9:30 o'clock said that the Olinda radio station had picked up a radiogram from the English steamship Conte at 7:40, saying it had been in wireless communication with the fliers. The position of the Italian plane was placed "north of Pernambuco." Ferrarin reported himself and his companion "all right."

The Italian embassy announced that the fliers would not accept an invitation to fly to Argentina, as Brazil is the official end of the flight.

CITY HALL VOTERS FAVOR SMITH OVER HOOVER

City and county officials and employes had opportunity to express their preference for President Tuesday on The Sun-Telegraph's straw vote machine in the City-County Building and voted 266 for Smith and 143 for Hoover.

Councilmen, department heads, clerks and others crowded about the voting machines all day, frankly pleased with the chance to show how the officials plan to vote in November.

In the Fifth Avenue Arcade a heavy vote was registered on the new voting machines, Smith receiving 288 to Hoover's 132. The Jenkins Arcade vote continues strong, 293 persons voting for Smith Tuesday and 225 for Hoover. The great number of women voting at this location holds the Hoover vote to a higher figure.

The straw vote taken at the Mt. Pleasant fair, in Westmoreland county, showed Hoover a five-to-four favorite. Due to the number of distracting attractions at the fair the vote was not heavy during the day, but a larger expression is expected today and tomorrow.

Numerous requests have been received from out-of-town locations for the voting machines to be installed during a straw vote poll. The Sun-Telegraph plans to sound the sentiment of as many people of this district as possible. Since this newspaper has instituted the straw

GERMAN TO AID ITALIA CREW

HAMBURG, Germany, July 5.—(AP.)—Lieut. Ernst Udet, German war ace, accompanied by a second pilot, was en route to Spitzbergen today by steamship to aid in the rescue work for the crew of the dirigible and to help search for the missing Amundsen party.

Lieut. Udet took two Udet-Flamingo planes with him.

RESCUE UNCONFIRMED

LONDON, July 5.—(INS.)—There is still no confirmation of reports that the English yacht Albion had rescued Capt. Roald Amundsen and the five men with him when he left Tromsoe, Norway, on June 18, in a French seaplane to search for Gen. Nobile.

Finding weather conditions improving, an expedition of three Swedish planes was reported to have set out to rescue the marooned party, consisting of five members of the Italia's crew, and Lieut. Lundborg, the Swedish flier who rescued Nobile.

BERLIN, July 5.—According to a German survey today, 3,000 persons, 24 airplanes and 20 ships are engaged either directly or indirectly in the search for the missing members of the Nobile expedition and the lost Amundsen party in the Arctic. Eleven dogs are being used by searchers along the coasts and over the ice fields. Eight nations are represented.

CHANG MOVES FOR PEACE

PEKIN, July 5.—(AP.)—Foreign consular reports from Mukden said that Chang Hsueh-Liang, military governor of Mukden, had sent a circular telegram to Nationalist leaders announcing that he was voluntarily withdrawing his armies to the north of the great wall. He asserted this was a peaceful gesture.

Chang urged the Nationalists to convoke at an early date a national peoples conference in which Manchurian representatives should be included to unify China.

IRWIN HIT BY $50,000 FLOOD

IRWIN, Pa., July 5.—Damage exceeding $50,000 was caused last night by a flood in Brush Creek which swept away a number of buildings, inundated the principal streets of the town and paralyzed traffic on three lines of the West Penn traction system.

A large corps of volunteer workers and firemen under Chief James Gilchrist, of the local fire department, worked all night to clear away the wreckage.

The Greensburg, Jeannette and McKeesport lines of the West Penn Traction system have not been operated since 7 p. m. yesterday and in many places the right of way is piled high with earth, rocks and trees. A portion of the mill of the Irwin Lumber Company was washed away and serious damage was caused to the plant of the Kersey Food Company. A 5,000-gallon tank of the Irwin Gas Company was overturned when the foundation was undermined by the swift current of the creek. The factory of the Pittsburgh Reflector Company was damaged. It was stated that $15,000 would be required to repair the damage caused by the storm on Irwin borough property.

GREENSBURG HIT

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 5.—(AP.)—An electrical storm, accompanied by heavy rain and wind, disrupted telephone and trolley service and caused many motorists to be marooned in this district last night. The barn at the farm of Paul Clazza, 2 miles from Mount Pleasant, was struck and burned with $10,000 damage.

Water, which ran into several subway crossings under the Pennsylvania railroad trapped automobiles and their occupants, who were removed, in some instances by policemen and firemen.

The West Penn Street Railway company had considerable of its right-of-way washed out and many telephone lines of the Bell company were put out of order.

FOUR OF FIVE IN BOAT DROWN IN CAPSIZING

ESTRAL BEACH, Mich., July 5.—(AP.)—Four men were drowned and a fifth had a narrow escape from a similar fate here yesterday when a boat in which they were rowing was overturned in the back wash of a speeding launch.

Bodies of the four victims were recovered. They were identified as follows: Frank Price, 35; John Gorskin, 40; George Grancz, 28; Ed Kubialiak, 38. All were residents of Detroit.

rains, but none of the occupants was hurt.

Hundreds of automobiles carrying holiday parties were marooned in mud. At two pleasure resorts in the McKeesport district, 52 machines were transformed into wreckage. Forty parked cars at Rainbow Gardens, on the state road between McKeesport and Greensburg, were swept into graves of swamped dirt. At Olympia Park the torrents carried 12 automobiles to the banks of the nearby Youghiogheny River.

Three foot bridges and a wooden grandstand were snapped into heaps of kindling wood at this same Olympia Park. Workers rescued two hogs that were being carried away by the waters.

At Rainbow Gardens, E. H. McGory, of Beck's Run, with his wife and five children, were rescued from the swirling waters that eventually swallowed his car, by Miss Emily Reiling, of 6804 McPherson boulevard.

"The water rose above the machine's wheels," McGory related, "and we were in fear. Then Miss Reiling came. Later I tried to locate my wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe, of Beck's Run, but the police said their home had been washed away."

TRAFFIC TIED UP

Train service of virtually every town in the Youghiogheny and Monongahela valleys was disrupted by tons of dirt that spread over tracks. The Duquesne Light Company described the storm as "the worst in our history," but reported quick repairs and little damage.

McKeesport felt all the elements' fury. Once a mere brook, Crooked Run swelled into an uncontrollable torrent and poured down Fifth avenue into the cellars of the city's most important buildings. In Walnut street, water and mud joined forces to rip out the trolley tracks.

In Pittsburgh, that section of Fifth avenue from Stevenson to Dinwiddie streets gave way to 18 inches of water and mud that gushed into business cellars.

PLANES IN DANGER

Pilot Charles H. Tygard, with a passenger, landed his Rodgers Field plane in a Glenshaw field and when he tried to take off the ship's nose plunged into the mud. Robert Dake, in another Rodgers plane, dropped safely on Mayer Field, Bridgeville, in spite of the storm.

Becks Run lost its placid course and raced in torrents over its banks to the Becks Run road and the Monongahela River through the South Hills. Fifty automobiles were halted in tons of wet dirt and some were swept along with parts of houses that were whipped off.

Thomas Picora, 33, of Mt. Oliver street, carried his wife and two children to safety when the rushing waters engulfed his auto in the Beck's Run district. Police rescued from a marooned car Mathilda and Margaret Grey, 1523 Hays avenue, and Margaret Noel, 851 Climax street. Volunteers saved Viola King, 30, of Elwyn Grove, when she fell into Saw Mill Run while trying to rescue a coop of chickens.

Raymond Bigler, 40, of Hays, received a fractured skull when, at midnight, a retaining wall alongside Kirkland Creek collapsed.

The weather bureau attaches said the rainfall amounted to 1.08 inches in Pittsburgh.

PARKS SUFFER

The storm played havoc with county roads. A checkup made today by the County Public Works Department disclosed that thousands of dollars' damage resulted from slides.

In the county's North and South parks many roads and trails suffered. Park Director Paul B. Riis ordered a crew to put the roads in passable shape. John A. Fugassi, county superintendent of road maintenance, also was busy having the mud and rocks which slid on the roads removed. Practically all of the damaged roads will be opened to traffic by tomorrow morning, the superintendent said.

this morning was good, with few clouds.

The airdromes at Natal and Pernambuco were prepared to receive the airmen and give them all possible aid for refueling if a landing is made at either place.

The radio station at Fernando Noronha sent weather bulletins to the plane.

5,635 MILES TO RIO

The Olinda radio station again was in communication with the Italian plane at 9:45 o'clock. Ferrarin reported that he was heading for the Brazilian mainland and that everything was going perfectly.

Capt. Ferrarin and Major Del Prete left the Montecelio Flying Field outside of Rome at 7:51 p. m. Tuesday with the announced purpose of making a non-stop flight across the South Atlantic to the coast of Brazil in an effort to break the Chamberlin-Levine distance record of 3,909 miles between the United States and Germany.

The Italian fliers estimated the distance from Rome to the coast of Brazil as 4,635 miles. If they should go on to Rio Janeiro after striking the Brazilian coast, they would add another 1,000 miles to the distance they had covered.

Their plane, the Savoia-64, is capable of remaining in the air long enough for the flight to Rio Janeiro.

Using the same plane, the two intrepid airmen recently established the world's endurance flying record of 58 hours and 36 minutes. In their present flight, they aim to establish a new record for long distance flying.

TYRRELL ASKS FOR RELEASE

Attorney Fayette J. Tyrrell was in "mortal terror" and "fearful of his life" because of threats uttered by Phillip F. Clark, and the fatal shooting of Clark in the Christian Church of Munhall at the Sunday service, May 13, was justifiable and a jury will undoubtedly acquit him, Tyrrell contended in a petition presented today in Criminal Court asking for his release from the county jail on bail pending trial on a charge of murder.

The petition was presented by Attorney J. Thomas Hoffman to Judge Elder W. Marshall. The request was opposed by District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, in whose opinion the offense is not a bailable one. The prima facie case as established, without consideration of the defense, possesses the elements of first degree murder, in Gardner's opinion.

JUDGE SCANS RECORD

Judge Marshall asked opposing counsel if they desired to dispose of the petition by a hearing or on the testimony adduced at the coroner's hearing. The latter procedure was agreed to and Judge Marshall will examine the coroner's record before handing down a decision.

The cases of many of Tyrrell's "clients are suffering by reason of his incarceration and his office expenses are piling up," the petition recited, averring that Tyrrell is not guilty of the crime for which he has been indicted. Tyrrell is ready and able to supply such bail as is fixed by the court, it is stated.

Tyrrell for many years was superintendent of the Sunday School of the Christian Church of Munhall and a practicing attorney and filed a libel for Mrs. Clark, seeking a divorce from her husband, Phillip F. Clark, the petition stated. "Thereupon the said Phillip F. Clark threatened your petitioner with grave physical violence and caused him to be fearful of his life," the petition alleged.

FINANCIER SUICIDE DENIED

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 5.—(AP.)—Rumors that Capt. Alfred Lowenstein, killed in a fall from his private plane last night, was a possible suicide, were energetically denied today at the financier's office in Brussels.

It was stated that the captain was not alone at the head of his numerous affairs whose direction and responsibility was shared by several prominent financiers, including the J. Henry Schroder Banking Corporation of New York. From the financial viewpoint, it was said, Capt Lowenstein's affairs will proceed as usual.

The belief in Brussels was that Capt. Lowenstein was the victim of a tragic mistake in that he apparently mistook the door by which passengers leave the plane for the entrance to the washroom and in the darkness plunged from the machine.

The stock exchange reacted violently on news of Capt. Lowenstein's death, despite notice that the financier's personal wealth amounted to $50,000,000 and that the entire situation is being taken over by those associated with him without throwing any shares on the market. Shares in which Lowenstein was interested dropped from 20 to 40 per cent.

MYSTERY UNCLEARED

BOULOGNE-SUR-MER, France, July 5.—The mystery whether Capt. Lowenstein, noted Belgium financier, jumped or fell by accident from his private airplane while over the English Channel last night, had not been definitely cleared by a preliminary police investigation today.

The police said that the crew did not see Capt. Lowenstein disappear. The authorities were reticent to discuss the situation until they have finished their examination of all aboard the plane.

The version that the police pieced together is that Capt. Lowenstein went to the rear of the plane toward the washroom when the machine was about five miles off the British coast opposite Dunkirk. Ten minutes later his secretary want to the rear and failing to see him, looked into the washroom, which was empty. He immediately passed a message to the pilot who turned about and flew over the spot where the captain must have fallen. The search yielded no sight of the financier.

1 IN RUINS; DAMAGE $8,000

A gas explosion early today destroyed a home and started a fire that damaged two other dwellings in Finance street, Homewood. Two alarms were sounded when fire began. Damage was estimated at $8,000.

The explosion is thought to have originated in the home of Tony LaPresto, 7229 Finance street, during the absence of members of the family. The LaPresto residence was in flames when firemen arrived and the fire soon spread to the home of W. A. Clino, at 7231 Finance street, and to the home of Maggy Garrison, at 7227 Finance street.

176TH READY FOR CAMP

Prepartions for the encampment of the One Hundred and Seventy-sixth Regiment, Field Artillery, at Tobyhanna, Pa., to be known this year as Camp Gordon, will be made by an advance detail which leaves Pittsburgh today. The regiment moves tomorrow night and camp will be opened officially Saturday for two weeks' tour of duty.

The regiment leaves the armory at 6 p. m. tomorrow and parades through the Oakland and East Liberty districts to the East Liberty station. The two special trains depart at 9:30 p. m. The regiment will remain in camp until July 21 and will undergo intensive training in various artillery problems.

FOUR KILLED

This picture shows a scene near Johnstown, Col., after a cyclone had ripped through a section 50 miles north of Denver, killing four and causing thousands of dollars' property damage.

1 DEAD, MANY HURT, 4TH TOLL HERE

Frank Gallagher, 12, of 406 West Eighth avenue, Tarentum, is dead today as the result of a premature Independence Day celebration. He died yesterday in the Allegheny Valley Hospital of injuries suffered Tuesday night when dynamite exploded in his hand.

Young Gallagher and three companions had been playing with the dynamite in a stone quarry. The boys lighted the fuse and then hurled the dynamite away. It failed to go off, Gallagher picked it up and it exploded.

SCORES INJURED

Local hospitals reported treating many injured in fireworks accidents. Scores were injured seriously. In some instances, however, more serious injury was inflicted.

Frank Byrne, 32, of 703 Hickory street, is in the Braddock General Hospital suffering from burns that may cost the sight of both his eyes. As he was driving his automobile near his home, someone threw a large firecracker into the machine, a closed car. Byrne received the blast in his face.

Herman Heffield, 22, of 851 Suissmon street, suffered a bullet wound in the leg while, police say, he was celebrating the holiday by discharging a .32 caliber recolver. He was given first aid at the Allegheny General Hospital and then charged by police with violating a city ordinance.

Harry Kyle, 11, of 3738 Frazier street, and Charles Cunningham, 12, of the North Side, were attended at the Eye and Ear Hospital, Fifth avenue, for minor burns of the face received while playing with firecrackers.

Steve Martin, 21, of West Sixth avenue, Tarentum, was shot in the right shoulder last night when a revolver was accidentally discharged by a friend. Steve Budda, 22, of Ross street, Tarentum, is said to have been holding the weapon when it was discharged. Budda was not arrested.

While setting off fireworks last night, Leo Crowley, 14, of 244 East Fourteenth street, Homestead, was badly burned on face, hands and eyes. He was removed to the Homestead Hospital.

HURT BY AUTO TRUCK, GREENVILLE MAN DIES

A fractured skull suffered when hit by an automobile caused the death of Alfred Gilson, 27, of Greenville, Pa., in the Allegheny General Hospital last night. He was hit by a truck while walking in a road near Broughton Tuesday. The driver will be notified to appear before the coroner today and post bond, pending the inquest.

SMITH LEADS IN CALIF. TEST

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—(US.)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, Democratic nominee for President, was 300 votes ahead of Herbert C. Hoover, the Republican candidate, today, after two days of balloting in Northern California.

The straw vote being conducted by the San Francisco Examiner in conjunction with other Hearst newspapers throughout the nation was light today compared to the day before on account of the holiday and because the voting machines in San Francisco were closed. All ballots received were procured through the mails and came from out-of-town points.

Totals for Northern California were:

Smith 77
Hoover 50

The totals for the two days of balloting:

Smith 859
Hoover 559

Drift of Northern California normal Republican voters from their party rank to Gov. Smith, a phenomenon remarked in the first day's balloting, was shown again today.

Recording of this "drift" is made possible by the double-barreled ballot on which each voter is requested to show not only his present preference with regard to the presidential candidate but also the preference he expressed at the election four years ago when President Coolidge was the Republican and John W. Davis was the Democratic candidate for the Presidency.

CAPITAL FAVORS SMITH

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(U. S.)—The totals at the end of the fourth day in the Washington Herald's presidential poll in the District of Columbia and nearby Maryland and Virginia showed Smith, 412; Hoover, 234.

MONON VALLEY UNDER ELECTRICAL BARRAGE

Lightning added to the terror caused by the storm which burst upon the Monongahela valley region about 7 o'clock last night and swept across the eastern end of the county.

Nearly a score of buildings, two of them churches, were hit by bolts. The damage will reach thousands of dollars

In a barrage of lightning, four dwellings were struck within a space of five minutes in Wilson. A large double frame house owned by Anthony Capilina and occupied by the Capilina family and that of John Mortimer, was shattered, the bolt unroofing it and rending the walls. The home of Mrs. Andrew Snyder, in State street, was badly domaged and a dwelling at Seventh and Walnut streets, occupied by August Bloomberg, was wrecked by lightning.

In the Homestead district the storm seemed to gain fury and lightning struck the general offices of the Homestead steel works at Munhall and the storage plant of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation on the north bank of the Monongahela River. A bolt tore a hole in the roof of the home of Bruce Thompson, 307 Cherry street, West Homestead, causing $400 damage.

The front gable and a chimney in the residence of C. A. Artman, in the Vonders sub-division in Mifflin township, were damaged, with loss of $500. St. Ann's Catholic Church, Hazelwood, and Trinity Lutheran Church, Verona, in the path of the storm, suffered when lightning ripped their roofs and walls.

EXPLOSION KILLS WOMAN

AUTO BLOWS UP IN FAMILY'S GARAGE

FRANKLIN, July 5.—(AP.)— Mrs. Gladys Beers Sullinger, 18, mother of three children, was instantly killed here last night when an explosion of undetermined cause, wrecked the family automobile in which she was sitting in the garage. Her head and arms were blown off. Fire followed the explosion.

An investigation into the explosion was immediately started by the corner but he was unable to ascertain the cause. Frank Sullinger, husband of the victim, was under the care of physicians unable to talk coherently and fear is held for his immediate recovery. He suffered shock when he returned to the garage on hearing the explosion and found the charred body of his wife.

A three year old daughter and seven months old twins survive.

'JUST KIDS' CLUB AUTHOR COMING

Ad Carter, creator of "Just Kids," whose "Safety Club" now has almost 500,000 members in the United States, is coming to Pittsburgh.

Mr. Carter, whose comic strip has saved the lives of thousands of children who voluntarily joined the "Just Kids Safety Club," will arrive in Pittsburgh Monday morning for a series of safety talks to parents and children.

The Sun-Telegraph is bringing Mr. Carter to Pittsburgh in co-operation with the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council. His first address here will be before the directors of the Council at 12:15 noon Monday in the Congress of Women's Clubs. Following the luncheon he will visit several industrial plants in the Pittsburgh district.

Tuesday morning Mr. Carter will speak before 100 industrial executives in the State Department of Labor and Industry and Tuesday evening, following additional talks at industries, he will address the delegates to the Portland Cement Association conference in the William Penn Hotel. His talks will be illustrated with drawings of "Just Kids."

Treat Your Family to the Egg Extraordinary

"Shellwhite" Fresh Eggs doz. 43c

You begin enjoying "Shellwhites" the moment you see them. Extra large eggs with immaculate white shells. Selected as the finest eggs in a production of thousands of dozens a day. Fresh eggs of mild flavor. Full eggs with firm yolks and sparkling whites! "Shellwhites" are table eggs—you should serve them.

If "Shellwhites" ever fail to fulfill your expectations we'll gladly return your money.

"Favorite" Coffee 3 lbs. $1

Cup testing is the only way you can judge coffee value. The flavor of the beverage at once marks it as "Good Coffee." "Favorite" is not blended to meet a price; its enormous sales volume earns for you this unusually low price.

More Than Cheese Pabst-ett, 2 boxes 45c

"Pabst-ett" is a milk food made by a special process developed just recently. Contains all the nourishment of cheese without many of the disadvantages of that concentrated food. For example, it is easily digested. Nice for a spread, or may be eaten as a relish.

Lake Superior White Fish . lb. 27c

Glistening fish out of the water only a few hours. Very similar to the very famous Lake Erie White Fish. You are sure of good fish from McCann's. Nothing but fresh fish is ever sold.

The Newest Thing in Potato Salad pt. 25c

It's new because it's old fashioned! Crisp new potatoes, bits of celery, celery seed and old fashioned boiled dressing. It's just like your mother made years ago.

HORNE'S JULY CLEARANCE

The greater quantities entering this intensive store-wide Clearance bring unexcelled opportunities for selection at prices which disregard costs and make the most of value-giving.

Overstocks, due to building operations with contraction of selling space, the rains of the past month and various other factors, and the odds and ends and incomplete assortments have all been given extraordinary reductions destined to move them quickly.

July is only the beginning of summer, but in a sense it marks the end of the season for this style alert store, whose constant effort is to be always a step ahead of public requirements.

Seasonable needs are to be had for less than their regular prices.

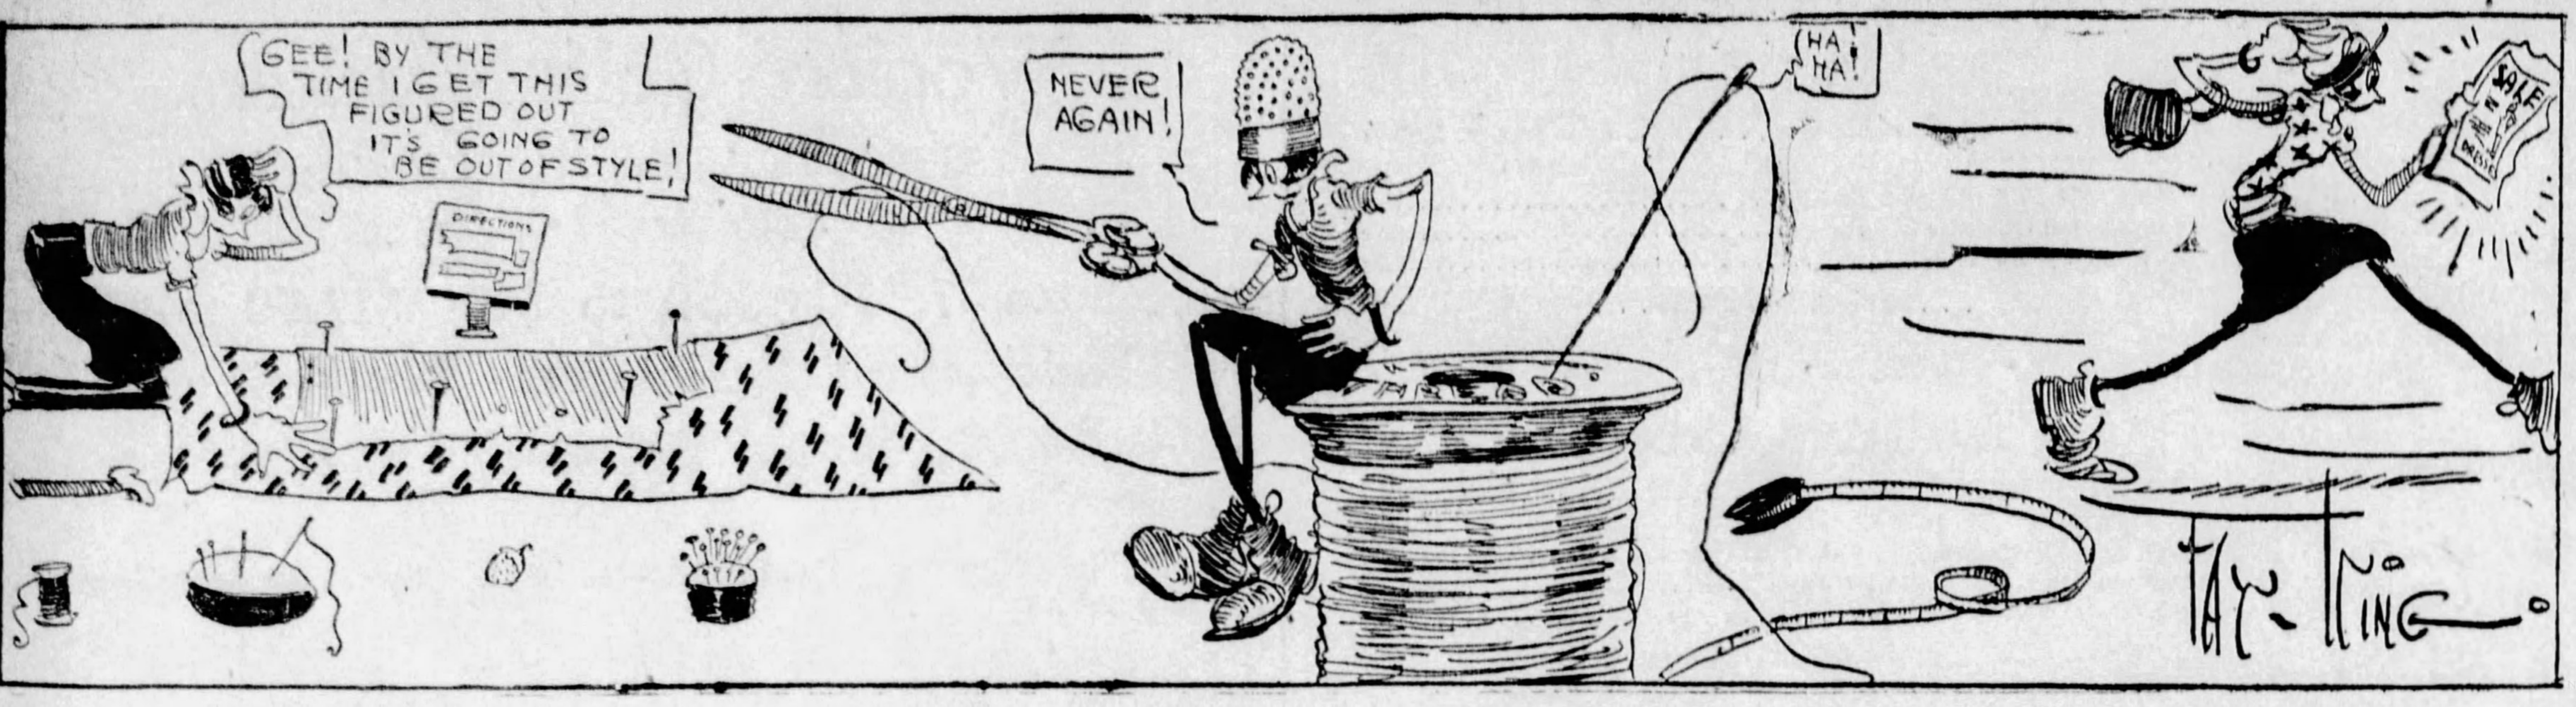
Ready-Made Dress Boon to Fay King, Who Was a Would-Be Poiret



GEE! BY THE TIME I GET THIS FIGURED OUT IT'S GOING TO BE OUT OF STYLE!
DIRECTIONS
NEVER AGAIN!
HA! HA!
SALE DRESSES
FAY-KING

By FAY KING

AFTER crawling around on the carpet for several days trying to stake out a dress pattern, a wheel chair would become me? My elbows and knees refuse to unbend.

Every so often I decide to make myself a dress! Some have that knack of turning an envelope of tissue paper and two yards of goods into a beautiful creation.

But I have only succeeded in getting myself into a shape that no pattern would fit!

After sitting on pins, picking the pointed end of the scissors out of my foot and hunting for needles that hide from me the minute I put them down, believe me a ready-made dress is cheap at any price!

NEW COAL BOOM OUTLOOK BRIGHT

An optimistic outlook in the bituminous coal industry for the Western Pennsylvania district is pointed out in a statement issued by W. C. MacQuown, president of a local fuel company, who has made a survey of the situation and finds a steadily increasing demand for coal.

He says:

"In a proper survey of the situation we must not overlook the fact that our coal supply has been in many cases curtailed. Many mines are closed down indefinitely—operators have gone into combinations, smaller companies have been and are being absorbed by larger ones; miners have left—mines in many cases will never reopen—in short, it will take weeks to properly organize to be able to supply the sudden demand for large tonnage that must be shipped immediately or within a definite stated period. This demand, of course, will tend to strengthen prices."

He couldn't tell her it was "B.O." (Body Odor)

Once she couldn't hold a job....
—now the highest paid girl in the office

"I'M sorry, Miss Scott—but we just can't use you any more. It's all I can say."

Fired again! Why? They couldn't explain—and she couldn't guess.

But that very day she discovered the reason. The girls were whispering about it and she happened to overhear. "B.O."—body odor.

That's the last job Miss Scott ever lost. For since she learned what her handicap was and how to overcome it, her natural ability and charm—unspoiled by this unpardonable social error—have won her promotion after promotion—and a host of friends, besides.

No fear of body odor when pores are purified

Body odor is treacherous. We can't tell when we have it because our own sense of smell becomes deadened to familiar odors.

And no one is safe. We all must perspire to live. Even on a cool day, our pores give off as much as a quart of odor-causing waste.

Don't risk embarrassment—use the delightful, purifying toilet soap that millions enjoy—Lifebuoy. Its bland and abundant antiseptic lather deodorizes pores, giving bath-to-bath freshness and freedom from body odor.

Keeps skin clear

Lifebuoy keeps complexions fresh and clear, too—by gently purifying pores. It also guards health, removing germs as well as dirt.

You'll learn to love Lifebuoy's pleasant clean scent which tells you Lifebuoy purifies. It quickly vanishes as you rinse. Use Lifebuoy a week and you'll use it for life. Get some today. Lever Bros. Co.

RECOVER 4 BODIES

RIVERS GIVE UP WOMEN AND YOUTHS

The rivers have yielded the bodies of four persons whose lives they claimed in the last few days.

The Ohio river gave up the bodies of two women last night who had been sought following their sudden disappearance. The bodies Mrs. Mildred Kane, 21, of 2 Exeter street, and of Mrs. Charles Vey, of 9 Ivory place, Ross township, were those recovered.

Mrs. Kane had been missing since Saturday. Sunday morning her coat and purse were found on the Manchester bridge, police said. Mrs. Vey, who had been ill, just back from hospital, disappeared yesterday. Her body was found about 70 feet below the Manchester bridge and that of Mrs. Kane at the foot of Sproat way.

The bodies of James Neuhart, 18, 624 High street, Sharpsburg, and Cyril Gallagher, 20, of 54 Murray street, Pleasant Valley, O'Hara township, drowned Sunday while swimming in the Allegheny river, were recovered last night, near Highland Park bridge, about half a mile from where the drownings occurred.

MEADVILLE MINISTER, W. E. SMITH, IS DEAD

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 5.—(AP.)—Relatives were notified tonight of the death yesterday at Battle Creek, Michigan, of Rev. Warren E. Smith, 48. Mr. Smith was president of the Ministers' Protective Society.

BOY SCOUT CAMP OPENS MONDAY

Umbstaetter Camp, summer playground of the Allegheny County Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be opened next Monday for a season of six weeks, during which hundreds of youngsters will live in tents and cabins and practice woodcraft. pirate ship is afloat; the old swimming hole is ready. A corps of workers is preparing for an army of boys.

From reveille at 7:15 a. m. until taps at 10:30 p. m., every day will be crammed with activities for the scouts. There will be swimming, baseball, tennis, hikes, shows and pageants, nature study, and instruction in scouting.

Visitors will be welcome on Saturdays and Sundays only.

The camp committee is composed of H. D. Denny, Jr., chairman; Ralph E. Flinn, Owen Kraft, L. E. Wickersham, R. E. Blakeslee, C. L. Peirce, Jr., W. B. Miller and David Pryde.

WIFE SLUGGED, HUSBAND HELD

William Deer, 32, of 508 Taylor avenue, is being held by North Side police pending the outcome of injuries suffered by his wife, Olive, 28, during a fight yesterday in their home. Police say they found the woman unconscious in her home and that they arrested the husband for his alleged part in the fight. The wife is in the Allegheny General Hospital suffering a probable fracture of the skull.

ROBBERS BEAT MAN SENSELESS ON BRIDGE

Fred R. Davison, 38, of 934 Columbus avenue, was found beaten unconscious on the Sixteenth Street Bridge early today. His empty pockets indicated, police say, that he had been atacked by robbers. At the Allegheny General Hospital attaches said Davison's skull probably was fractured and his condition serious.

WHAT THE PUBLIC ACCEPTS YOU CAN DEPEND UPON

After years of research, science has demonstrated that the most effective method of correcting ailments is to administer directly into the Blood Stream the proper constituents necessary to incite the Leucocytes to do their intended work.

BLOOD CELL SERUM

The Quickest, the Safest, Surest Road to Health. One Serum is Sufficient in Many Cases

We are successfully treating Rheumatism, Neuritis, Skin Disorders, Asthma, Bronchitis, Stomach Trouble, Anemia, Kidney Trouble, Nervous Disorders, High Blood Pressure, Impure Blood, Boils and Pimples.

Examination now may prevent years of suffering. An ailment checked before it becomes chronic is often easily overcome. Visit the Laboratory and learn the truth.

Very many ailments go uncured because the underlying cause is never discovered or even looked for. Successful treatment of any disease follows only after careful and scientific examinations. When you feel yourself slipping—gradually failing to keep your place in the swift stream of modern life, take warning.

Watch carefully the heart, the lungs, the kidneys and the digestion.

Seek first a careful, thorough and scientific examination—to be followed by the specially chosen serum suitable to your case.

Why drug the stomach when your blood cells control High Blood Pressure and most all Chronic Diseases?

Our physicians and our laboratories are always at your disposal. Our patients are satisfied.

Donald Grisp Goes to Europe So Alan Dwan Gets Assignment To Direct New Fairbanks' Drama

By REGINA CREWE

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, July 5.

ALL Hollywood has been firm in its belief that Donald Crisp, actor-director, would be assigned by his pal, Douglas Fairbanks, to the megaphone end of Doug's sequel to "The Three Musketeers." Crisp, you recall, directed "Don Q," which is still doing business in movie theaters all over the world. But now it seems that Donald has decided that he needs a vacation in Europe. And so the name mentioned as Doug's choice of directors is that of Alan Dwan.

One of those reports which meets with denial on every hand is to the effect that Fairbanks and Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, have come to an agreement whereby Doug will soon take over the Schenck interests. This, following close upon the heels of the rumor that the great movie sachem is soon to quit the production end of the industry, seems to indicate that there may be a little flame where there is so much smoke.

Ten years ago I worked with Richard Bennett. I imagine neither of us ever thought of Hollywood and the movies. Then it was a case of "the play's the thing." But times change, and when my old boss came out to visit Daughter Joan he found himself surrounded with dotted lines on film contracts. That offered by Warner Brothers appealed most to him. So he has signed to appear in the big Vitaphone special which will be made from the George M. Cohan play, "The Home Towner." And, naturally, I think he's ideal for the role.

They still appear able to dig up red-hot titles for picture plays. The latest burn-'em-up combination of words is "Sinners in Love," which is what they call the film in which Olive Borden, Huntley Gordon and Seena Owen will appear.

The youth of movieland is exactly like the youth of any town in the country. This was my thought as I looked over the crowd of sport-clad ukelele-playing kids who munched hot dogs and got watermelon in their ears at little Sue Carol's beach party. Matty Kemp insisted on calling Nick Stuart "Mr. Carol," while Nick called Matty "Mr. Eilers" . . . The idea being a little gentle kidding regarding Matty's affection for Sally Eilers, and Nick's for Sue. Nina Quartero, Greg Blackton, Lina Basquette and a score more picture youngsters had the time of their lives, and Ned Sparkes—dapper double of Gotham's "Old Gray Mayor"—expressed himself as complimented to be included among the juveniles.

They are chasing the ghosts out of Universal City. For the great stage used in "The Phantom of the Opera" echoes with the clamor of saw and hammer as workmen do a remodeling job to prepare the set for "The Last Warning." The huge "phantom" set has stood deserted since the Chaney film was finished. And various legends have arisen to the general effect that it is haunted. If there is anything in environment it is a fine spot for Paul Leni to shoot his mystery picture.

Al Jolson has opened the biggest and best cabaret in town. But they're going to padlock it this week. It will get a capacity play while open, though, for all the 400 extras in this scene of "The Singin' Fool" have got to have a good time whether they want to or not. At least, they must look that way.

SONGS, ACTS, MUSIC FEATURES AT PINES

Novelty songs and acts are presented by members of the Wash-Jeff orchestra at the Pines, Perrysville road. The latest hits are featured in the dance music.

FOOTLIGHTS AND FILMS -:- BOAST THESPIANS -:- FORMING THIS GROUP

Joseph Thayer, character man of the Nixon Players, whose vehicle next week in the Nixon is to be 'East Is West."

Gus Forbes of the George Sharp Players will portray the title role of "The Music Master," Pitt offering next week.

Clara Bow is scheduled for the Stanley screen next week, when she will be seen in "Ladies of the Mob."

John Gilbert is the star of "The Cossacks," which will be presented next week as the feature picture in the Penn.

STOCKS OFFER NOTED PLAYS

The part of Ming Toy, in "East is West," which the Nixon Players will present at the Nixon next week, will be played by Katherine Wilson. Billy Benson, the American boy who falls in love with her, will be played by Harry Bannister.

Gus Forbes, of the George Sharp Players, will enact the David Warfield role of Von Barwig in "The Music Master" next week in the Pitt. Anne Forrest and George Baxter will play the juvenile leads.

Henry Regal, appearing in the Davis this week, is a gymnast who has been featured with a musical comedy. Regal and his associates, Ida Gerber and O. Henry, were with Ed Wynn's "Carnival."

Marcia Byron, leading woman in "The Captive," coming to the Gayety next week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, was at one time leading woman for the late Holbrook Blinn, and she appeared here with that star in "The Bad Man." Miss Byron is the wife of Alva C. Dinkey, Jr., president of the Midvale Steel Company, Nicetown, Philadelphia.

Next week's scheduled screen feature in the Penn brings together again John Gilbert and Renee Adoree in Gilbert's new film vehicle, "The Cossacks." In the supporting cast is Ernest Torrence. "Step This Way" is the title of the stage presentation of varied specialties.

"All Aboard," a stage presentation of syncopation, will be an attraction in the Stanley next week. The screen feature will be Clara Bow in "Ladies of the Mob."

So much interest has been taken in the showing at the various Pittsburgh theaters of the Harris Amusement Company of the local "Our Gang Comedy" that the management has decided to continue the film in the Harris for the final three days of the week.

Viola Danna, motion picture star, will be featured in the vaudeville in the Sheridan Square Theater the first half of next week in "There Goes the Bride." The screen feature will be Adolphe Menjou in "His Tiger Lady."

Stella Tells Emily That Skeets Has Deserted Her

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

Emily Day and Kitten are daugters of a worker in the Rossiter factory. Both are prevented by poverty from mingling with the socially elect of the little town. Emily has made an ideal of Kent Rossiter. Mary Nolan, whose father keeps a "speakeasy," is devoted to her. Mrs. Frances Haiden, a wealthy interior decorator, takes an interest in her and tells her the only aristocracy is that of work. She gets a job with Mrs. Haiden. Her father dies and Rossiter offers help, which her mother declines. Kitten, Emily's sister, is going with a wild crowd and is running close to danger. Ted tries to show Kitten that wild parties don't pay. Every morning Emily finds roses on the doorknob from Kingdom Coles. Marty goes in Judge Morrow's office, Emily is jealous. Emily takes the job to decorate Mrs. Rossiter's house. Mrs. Haiden wants Emily to go into partnership with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

AND Emily reveled in the idea of it. She could have pretty, tasteful furnishings and make a refuge from the monotonous golden oak effects of downstairs.

Color—oh, she'd fill it with color! Blends, contrasts, all various and all melting into harmony. Wicker and cretonne and the walls pale gold like sunshine in a misty dawn.

And when her friends came she would take them straight to this lovely room and she'd have a little brass kettle and make tea at the rounded wicker table and it all would be very cozy, very joyous.

She'd invite Kingdon Coles then.

She mused on this. Strange, it appeared to her all at once, that he never had asked to call. A man you expected to marry would want to meet your family, it seemed like. He never had mentioned it.

She felt embarrassed because she had allowed him to do all the entertaining. Because she never had said, "Come on over to the house, King," when he met her at the shop for a drive up the river.

Many times she had intended to do this, but some impulse always stopped her. She would have a sudden, half guilty vision of Nottingham lace curtains aggressively starched and of Steve and Agnes on their wedding journey staring with set crayon smiles out of the gilt frame.

Kingdon Coles' bored elegance—it just couldn't fit in someway. His sleek head against one of the crocheted tidies, feet on the red and yellow kittens romping in the rug. She felt a stinging sense of reluctance when she thought of bringing this about.

She wasn't ashamed of her home, Emily told herself fiercely. If only

But now she felt the sunroom would settle everything. That would be modern enough; she would bring King late in the afternoon and give him tea there; his impressions would be formed on the attractive thing she herself, had created.

Of course there was Agnes. Supposing she should guess at the way matters stood between Emily and King? Supposing she put up her hand, cryin gin that helpless way?

Why did life have to be so crisscross? No smooth, languorous currents sweeping one on their crests. No sweet destiny spilling flowers in one's lap.

She brought in the workmen and shortly the sunroom was under way. The window at the end of the hall upstairs was cut through for a door and each night Emily would stroll into the unfinished enclosure, lingering before every wide window. Gazing happily up the hill toward the North where the locust patch was growing into tall trees; turning to the East and the Hudson flowing dark and silent, its far edge jeweled by the lights of Tarrytown; to the South where evergreens obscured the Brents'.

She wondered about Stella. Two or three times after she had gone away with Skeets, Emily had met her here or there. But Stella had turned away; she seemed always in a hurry. Once, standing at the South window, Emily caught a flutter of white under the trees and went out into the crisp autumn night and across the lawn. It was Stella sitting under the hedge, forehead on her knees, hands flat against the earth.

"Stell? Why, my dear!"

"Don't bother me, Em," in a choky, muffled voice. "Go away and let me alone."

Emily knelt beside the crouching figure, covering the spread-out hands with her own. "Don't say that, dear. Tell Em, won't you? Is it Skeets again?"

Now the bowed head jerked up in a desperate gesture, tears running from the closed eyes.

"It's always Skeets, isn't it? Lord if I'd never seen him! Skeets—oh, God!" And she began to laugh, wildly.

"Hush, dear. He's left you? But he can't just walk out. Listen to me, Stell—he can't do that. There are laws to protect girls who marry."

"Marry! Yes, girls who marry! Oh, yes, protect them—the married ones. Yes, oh, yes!"

"You mean—but you don't mean—"

"Oh, I went away with him. Myself to blame—well, he wanted it. I thought it would hold him. I'o said—what's the use of that, though. Finished now. They say he's going to marry Bess Tourney. All over. Except what usually happens—"

Emily sat back, a queer chill winding her. The end of a dream this was; a dream of love. Beauty twisted and soiled; disgrace for the girl here.

And the man gone free. . . .

Only the woman paid. But would that be always true? Class—had Stella been of Skeets' own class would he have taken the song from her heart, the sweetness from her soul, and cast her out?

He'd have given her the protection of his name, she told herself. No matter what misery he brought her afterward he'd have done that at least. His own blue-blood clan would have demanded that.

But a girl from up The Hill—what demand from the lowly would Skeets' kind listen to?

Still there were laws; they were supposed to protect all alike.

"Stella, you must tell your father this. Skeets has no right to marry anyone but you. There must be justice somewhere."

"Father'll kill me, Em. Oh, I know!"

"No he wouldn't. Promise me now."

Stella did promise, finally. Emily left her and crept back into her room and to bed, shaking with emotion. Things her father had said kept coming to her, feeding her sense of injustice.

It was long before she slept.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

OUT on a country road, where autumn burned fires of blinding gold and blood red in all the trees and where every hill fore a scarf of tinted vapor, Kitten was saying goodby to Ted.

Not a lingering goodby nor a graceful one. A tilt of the arrogant little chin, a side-wise glance of the yellow eyes, a shrug of one small shoulder.

And heels tapping away in the dust of the long, long road. She didn't look back.

He put the big car into gear and rolled beside her, concern etching lines on the boyish face.

"But Kitten you can't walk. It's five miles at least. Be sensible, won't you?"

She didn't seem to hear and after a time he said no more. But he kept the car rolling at her side till a bus came up and she climbed aboard.

It had started early in the afternoon when he telephoned.

"You never give me a whirl any more, Kitten. Why not come out for a ride?"

"Don't care to ride today, thanks."

"You said that the last time. What's the matter, Red-head?"

FIREMEN HURT AT CAMEO RECOVER

Four firemen were recovering in Mercy Hospital today and five others were confined to their homes as a resut of the fire which early yesterday destroyed the five-story Cameo Theater building at 347 Fifth avenue with a loss estimated at $100,000.

The firemen in the Mercy Hospital are Capt. Frank Grible, of No. 23 Engine Company; Hoseman David Nicherson of No. 11; Hoseman Frank Dixon of No. 11 and Hoseman Daniel Rose of No. 32. The only one believed seriously injured is Capt. Grible. His back was hurt when the second floor of the building collapsed.

Those whose injuries did not necessiatate their removal to the hospital are Hoseman Crill Valzer, No. 3; Jacob Kutosky, No. 32; Battalion Chief George Spahr; Thomas Kenna No: 19 and Fire Chief Richard L. Smith.

Most of the firemen were injured when sections of the floors collapsed

The cause of the fire still is undetermined. Other fires caused damage ranging up to $9,000.

A gas explosion early today destroyed one home and damaged two other dwellings in Finance street, Homewood. Damage was estimated at $8,000. The explosion is thought to have originated in the home of Tony LaPresto, 7229 Finance street, during the absence of members of the family. The LaPresto residence was in flames when firemen arrived and the fire soon spread to the home of W. A. Cline at 7231 Finance street, and to the home of Maggy Garrison at 7227 Finance street.

Two alarms were sounded yesterday for a fire which for a time threatened a two-story grocery warehouse at 27 South Diamond Square owned by Harry N. Venzer, proprietor of a grocery store at 54 South Twelfth street. The damage to the building and stock was estimated at $3,500 by Battalion Chief Saul Klein. Samuel Abbot, 28, of 2420 Gable street and Frank Sandusky, 82, of 155 South Sixteenth street were cut slightly while breaking the glass on the fire alarm box.

Damage estimated at $2,000 was caused last night by a fire at the pattern shop of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, Marion Junction crossing and the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, Hazelwood.

The home of Albert Heberle of 235 Darragh street was damaged about $750 last night by a fire which started in a partition. The cause was undetermined.

FISHELS RENT STORE SITE

Fishels, dealers in confectionary, have leased their building at 233 Fifth avenue to Howard Clothes, Inc., a New York retail clothing store and have rented for their own use the building at 439 Market street, formerly occupied by the Vogel meat market. The Fifth avenue lease is for an 18-year term at $45,000 a year net. The deals wer made by I. Leonard Aronson of the United States Realty Company.

Fishels have also leased two additional East End stores. They have ented a shop at the southwest corner of Penn and Negley avenues from Edward Bald and a store at 5417 Walnut street from James Cutrara. The East End deals were made through Cell Totten.

CARRICK

"WEIGHING IN"

Miss Margaret Davies, Miss Alice Thompson and Miss Minnie Hepler, the first of the Public Health Nursing Association and the last two of the American Red Cross, are "weighing in" 6-month-old Virginia Smith, who was one of the prize winners.

PHOTOS BY THE SUN-TELEGRAPH STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER.

SEVENTY-EIGHT

Several pairs of twins were among the contestants at the Carrick Club's baby day. Mrs. D. M. Phillips, Calhoun avenue, and her twin daughters, Ruth Ann and Norma Lee, are seen above. Seventy-eight babies were registered.

APPARENTLY, Jupiter Pluvius not only disfavors society events held in June but also frowns on a nice, peaceful Fourth of July. We should be accustomed by this time, perhaps, to a deluge of rain on every important day—and some that aren't so important, too—but three or four storms in one day seem just a bit overdone.

Fortunately for our society folks, no big outdoor event of any consequence had been arranged, but, naturally, innumerable individual plans were thrown "out of kelter." One affair given last night, though, was the dinner which Mrs. James B. Oliver, of Shieds, gave in the Allegheny Country Club for her granddaughter, Mrs. David Barry, and her husband, Maj. Barry. You remember, of course, that Mrs. Barry was Neville Johnston before she was married several years ago, and how popular she was here. Maj. Barry and his wife have been spending a month's leave here and are going to leave for Philadelphia soon to make their home. Commander Barry, Maj. Barry's brother, shared honors with them, I understand.

After the dinner last night there was the regular Fourth of July dance at the club. And because of this dance, the Edgeworth Club put off its holiday dance until tonight. James Barlow Cullum, Jr., and Hanson Thomas are in charge, I believe.

I AM sure you will be interested in the announcement of a wedding which took place on Monday way out in Helena, Mont. The bride was Esther Jane Whigham, a sister of William Whigham, Jr., of Wilson, Pa., who, you remember, is the husband of Elizabeth Arthurs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Biddle Arthurs, of Center avenue. She married Montgomery Meggs Atwater at a very quiet ceremony, and they plan to live this summer on his ranch near Helena, going to Seattle in the fall.

The new Mrs. Atwater is a Wellesley girl, having been graduated in 1925, and when she has not been traveling she has lived with her brother and his wife at Wilson. She spent the last year abroad, and came to Wilson not long ago from Honolulu to spend a short time with the Whighams before going west to be married. Her husband was graduated from Harvard in 1925, I understand.

AN engagement of great interest here, inasmuch as it involves two of our best known families, was announced over the Fourth. It is that of Martha Shields Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Faber Brooks, of Shields, to Alexander Laughlin Robinson, son of the William Christopher Robinsons, of Ridge avenue, North Side.

SPEER WALLACE GUTHRIE, of Church street, Indiana, Pa., has made known the engagement of his daughter Miss Abigail Alden Guthrie, to Robert W. Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Smith, of Pittsburgh street, Greensburg. Mr. Smith is a graduate of Dartmouth College and of the University of Pittsburgh Law School, class of 1928. A dinner and dance was given last night in the Indiana Country Club for Miss Guthrie.

MISS MARGARET COFFMAN, of Apollo, has announced the marriage of her niece, Miss Nellie Jane Coffman, to Robert Murray Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Armstrong, also of Apollo. The ceremony was performed Tuesday in the home of the officiant, the Rev. Dr. Charles C. Cribbs, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Ingram. After a wedding trip to Washington and other eastern cities, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will be at home in Apollo.

THE wedding of Miss Anna E. Beard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Beard, of Fourth street, Oakmont, and Francis Clarke Donahue, will take place Saturday at 4 o'clock in St. Thomas Memorial Episcopal Church, Oakmont. The Rev. Dr. Edgar Jones will perform the ceremony and the bridal attendants will be Miss Daisy Beard, of Greensburg, a cousin, and George Lee, of Oakmont. After the ceremony the bridal party will motor to Morgantown, where the wedding dinner will be served at the Morgan Hotel. Mr. Donahue is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Donahue, of Seventh street, Oakmont.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the engagement of Miss Margaret Emrick, of Warrendale, to David A. Spencer, of Orlando, Fla. The engagement was made known at a bridge party given by Miss Emrick's cousin, Mrs. S. W. Bostwick, of Stanford avenue, Bellevue. No date has been set for the wedding.

* * *

MRS. HAROLD F. LATHAM, of White Plains, N. Y., is spending several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Newlands, of Edgewood. She plans to remain over for the Lingenfelser-Wilson wedding on July 14.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Miss Annabelle Livingston, daughter of J. W. Livingston, of Blackhawk street, and William L. McKerahan, of Wilmerding, which was solemnized Monday at 5:30 o'clock in the Mifflin Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church by the Rev. C. J. Whitlatch. The bride wore ivory georgette and real lace, and carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Janet C. Kibler played the wedding music and Mrs. T. N. Trees sang. A reception and dinner followed the ceremony in Webster Hall. Mr. and Mrs. McKerahan will take a European trip and after September 30 will be at home in Pittsburgh. The bride has been a teacher in the Gladstone Junior High School and Mr. McKerahan is an instructor in the Allegheny Vocational School.

QUEEN ALIQUIPPA CHAPTER, Daughters of the American Revolution, will unveil a bronze tablet on the new McKeesport-Duquesne Bridge Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The tablet marks the crossing of Gen. Edward Braddock and his British regulars who were defeated by the French and Indians. Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, honorary president general of the National Society, Daughters of American Revolution, and William H. Stevenson, president of the Western Pennsylvania Historical Society, will be the speakers.

How Strong Is Al Smith In Western Pennsylvania?

TO answer this question, that is heard everywhere in Pittsburgh today, the Sun-Telegraph prints a ballot below.

These ballots will not appear every day, but occasionally; and on those days no extra papers will be delivered to any agent nor will papers be sold in bulk to any individual or organization. Ballots received in bulk will not be counted. No more than three in one envelope. Thus a fairly accurate estimate of the relative strength of Hoover and Smith may be determined.

Watch the Sun-Telegraph for announcements of the results.

For President of the United States, I expect to vote for—

HOOVER ☐ SMITH ☐

(Mark X after your choice)

Four years ago I voted for—

COOLIDGE ☐ DAVIS ☐

Mail your ballot to The Sun-Telegraph, Gazette Square, Pittsburgh, Pa.

How To Be Beautiful

by Maria Jeritza

Breathe Deep for Loveliness

THE beautiful girl of today is an athletic girl. By this term, I do not refer to the hearty, young woman who is a bear in a china shop with weather-beaten face and clumsy strength, but to the typical girl of the period, for whom exercise and wholesome living are not merely means to a championship, but the way to suppleness and grace and delightful joy in living. This girl loves fresh air, sunlight, swimming, dancing and all wholesome, natural sports and games.

The beautiful girl of 1928 does not need to be told to breathe deep. She knows that lungs well filled with fresh air are more important to health and beauty than food or even sleep and drink.

If your shoulders are round, your chest flat and your arms and head poke forward, you are not a deep breather. Probably in that case your skin is also sallow and your circulation is poor, causing a red nose in winter. If you would overcome these defects, practice such exercises as the following, which is part of the regime of a world-famous champion:

Stand erect, with your heels and toes close together, pointing front, your neck and back straight, your weight over the balls of your feet, your arms at your side. Fill your lungs to capacity with fresh air. Holding your breath, lift your arms until they are straight out at each side, palms turned up. Then mentally count from one to six while your rotate your arms front, up and back in a circle six times. Lower your arms to your sides while you exhale and relax.

Repeat this exercise 10 times every morning and evening. If you perform it accurately and energetically you will grow to love it, and it will firm the tissue of your entire body and should bring beautiful symmetry to your shoulders, bust and chest.

Never wear tight bands about your chest and bust. Brassieres should be loose. Jumping the rope is a good chest developer and a fine all-around exercise.

Voice culture is excellent as a means of developing the chest. You never saw a flat-chested singer. Incidentally, voice placement and diction, which are part of the culture of the singing voice, should when combined, bring about these three marvelously good results: Cultivation of your singing voice, beauty and culture of your speaking voice and through deep breathing and breath control, beauty of contour of your throat, shoulders, bust and chest. So if you are looking for a hobby, I humbly suggest voice placement and diction studied under a good teacher.

VESS DRY
Fine Ginger Ale
Quality Guaranteed
Bottled By Whistle Bottling Co.

Now You Can Buy
VESS DRY
in a handy home carton—

SO great has been the demand for Vess Dry, the new ginger ale, that we have created a carton holding six bottles for home use. And at its price—30 cents—plus a small deposit for the bottles—there's no reason why this delicious beverage should not now be in every ice box in town.

Great for picnics—fine for Sunday suppers when the cold cuts need a sparkling, tangy beverage like Vess Dry "on the side!" In fact there's not an occasion when this pure and refreshing drink isn't a welcome guest.

Not to be judged by the price

Many are mystified by the high quality and low price of Vess Dry. But the mystery is soon solved when you consider that every penny you pay goes for the best of ingredients and not for fancy labels, gold foil and other frills that add to the cost and not to the quality of other ginger ales.

Try Vess Dry Today

Try a five-cent bottle of Vess Dry today and compare it with any ginger ale regardless of price. Just make this test at any of the town's better drug, grocery and confectionery stores or soft drink stands. Then you'll understand why thousands welcome this opportunity to purchase Vess Dry by the carton instead of by the single bottle.

When dry ask for
VESS DRY
6 bottles in the handy home carton with six paper napkins, 30¢ plus deposit on bottles

Gymnasium Accident Turned Byrd to Flying Career

Injury Suffered in Fall In Athletic Event Caused Change

What Has Gone Before

Commander Byrd maintains that the dangers of flying are not near as great as they are supposed to be. He believes that with reasonable perfection of equipment and training that is available today aviation is thoroughly safe. He describes two kinds of fatal airplane accidents. One kind is the result of experimental or pioneering work; the other from fliers whose planes lack proper repair and inspection facilities. He says that mankind had knowledge of mechanical flight long before the birth of Christ. He describes the crash of the America, in which he was injured.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Pioneer Pilots Face Death

CHAPTER IV.

MY FIRST aerial adventure was in the Annapolis gymnasium. I was captain of the Navy gym team which was out to win the intercollegiate championship of the year.

In line with this ambition I devised a hair-raising stunt on the flying rings. My plan was to get a terrific swing, high enough to be able to count on an appreciable pause at the end of it.

I figured I could at this moment do what was called "dislocate," which meant swing completely head over heels without changing grip, with arms at full length—unbending, forcing my shoulders through with a quick jerk, that made it look as if they were put out of joint.

In addition, I was going to make another complete turn, legs outside, letting go with my hands as my ankles passed my forearms, and catching again as I fell.

About a week before the big meet came off I mustered up my courage and gave this risky stunt a try. To my relief, as much as to my pleasure, I did it without breaking my neck.

His Stunt Fails

The day before the meet the gym was crowded with people watching practice. As the contest would be close, all hands were much excited. I felt secretly elated because I was sure my stunt would give us the points needed to win.

Never before had I reached the altitude I reached that afternoon when my last turn came on the rings. I was conscious of the dead silence as I swooped through the air for my final effort.

With a quick whirl I "dislocated." It felt all right. The next second I was spinning into the second turn. I let go; caught—but only with one hand.

For an instant I strained wildly to catch the other ring. But it had gone. People afterwards told me a queer sigh went up from the crowd at this moment.

I fell. It was a long way down even for a flier. Luckily it wasn't a nose dive. I came down more or less feet foremost.

The crash when I struck echoed from the steel girders far above me, and there was a loud noise of something snapping. I tried to rise, but fell back stunned. I noted there was no feeling in my right leg.

I glanced down as willing hands came to lift me and saw that my ankle and foot were badly crumpled; the same foot that I had broken playing football against Princeton.

Test Pilot Faces Death

My team not only won the meet next day without me, but captured the intercollegiate championship to boot. Never again, I felt, would I attach any undue importance to myself.

The test pilot in a sense faces death every time he puts a new plane through its paces. The pioneer in aeronautics takes chances at every new venture he essays. It is part of the game.

But the passenger or pilot flying in a tested plane under normal and proper conditions can certainly nowadays do so with the comforting assurance that at last it is reasonably safe to fly.

The degree of this safety is increasing daily with increase of safe landing fields throughout the country. In areas where there are not sufficient landing fields, there is a gradual swing to the multi-engined plane for passenger service that will fly with at least one engine dead.

Nor has commercial aviation yet done all it can to bring greater safety. Weather conditions are being made gradually more reliable. landing fields, beacons and other lights are ever increasing in number; landing speeds are getting lower; brakes are being installed on the wheels.

Fog Greatest Enemy

Three-engined planes are being built that will fly with but one engine. This gives practically no danger of a forced landing from engine trouble.

Finally aviation's great enemy, "fog," is gradually being conquered by radio beacons, and direction finders, and amber colored lights that will to some extent penetrate it. Until fog is thoroughly conquered the flier must have sufficient good weather predictions to evade it.

With safe flying, strong public air-consciousness, a multitude of planes and pilots, aviation is gradually coming into its own.

It is with this viewpoint the true flying enthusiast enters his work. He is not blind to the danger any more than is the careful automobile driver. But he is spurred on by a vision of the priceless agent for great achievement that is now at our command.

So it is that I believe in flying and commend it to the country's youth as a pursuit worthy of a man's devotion.

And I hope that those who take up the game will experience the same pleasure I have had with the great good fellowship I have found among my shipmates of the air.

Injury Causes Retirement

Five futile years followed. Futile in the sense that they contributed so little to my life's work, aviation. My game leg was a nuisance. Sometimes it worked, sometimes it didn't. Long hours of watch-standing aboard a man-of-war proved too much for it. Certain kinds of deck duty left me aching all over from the pain that began in the old manacled ankle.

One day, after I had fallen down a gangway, the surgeons decided to nail that old knob of bone together. For some time I thought they used a silver nail and felt set-up by so precious a finish to my anatomy.

But when I found it was just a plain old-fashioned galvanized nail they had used, I lost even that thrill.

The Navy regulations would not allow my promotion, on account of my injury. I was retired on three-quarters pay; ordered home for good.

Career ended. Not enough income to live on; no chance of coming back; trained for a seafaring profession; temperamentally disinclined for business. A fizzle.

Wanted to Fight in War

Then war. War did a lot of things for a lot of men. In a sense it saved me. For a willing cripple suddenly became to a mad world as valuable as a whole man who might be unwilling.

Washington used me to mobilize the Rhode Island State Militia. Thence I was promoted to a "swivel-chair" job in the Navy Department. I transferred enlisted men from station to station, and official papers from basket to basket.

Secretary Daniels added me to the Commission on Training Camps as it secretary. There I came in close touch with Raymond B. Fosdick, chairman of the commission, one of the most brilliant men with whom I have ever come in contact and as agreeable as he was brilliant. This gave me a bigger desk and deeper baskets. But I didn't want furniture; I wanted to fight.

For several years I had known my one chance of escape from a life on inaction was to learn to fly. For years I had wanted to fly, but my leg and obligations had prevented.

Now, that even willing cripples were looked upon to do their bit, perhaps I would be permitted to fly. But the doctors said, "No, not with that leg." To which I was impelled to burst out angrily, "But you don't fly with your legs!" Only I didn't; I'd been schooled never to do any bursting out.

Begs Chance

After a while desire got the better of my schooling. I lost 25 pounds worrying over the uselessness of what I had become—just a high-class clerk—when I had been trained to go out and fight—fight wind and seas and the country's enemy.

And here I was, a big desk, deep baskets, reams of official papers, and I still in my youth. Hundreds of army and naval officers were chafing at swivel chain jobs. By conspiracy I went up again before the medical board. "You'll have to take leave, Byrd," they said. "You're in terrible condition."

Truly I was on the verge of a breakdown. In addition to my worry I had worked day and night to help organize the commission so that I could fight and fly—do my duty. Yet that short half hour in the board room was the turning point of my life.

"Give me a chance," I begged them. "I want to fly. Give me a month of it and if I don't improve to suit you I'll do anything you say."

I was ordered to Pensacola for instruction. This was the fall of 1917.

Congress had declared war. The country was seething with excitement.

Our first destroyers had gone over to join the British Grand Fleet. Every edition of the newspapers was full of gory horrors. The Western Front was one grand riot of organized murder. I reached Pensacola ready to loop-the-loop that day if national emergency required.

Witnesses Crash

Something attracted my attention; a shout, or an uplifted hand. I glanced to a training plane in the azure sky above me. It wobbled as I looked. It hesitated, dipped, then dove straight down. It came leisurely enough at first.

I didn't realize its seeming lack of speed was due to its great height. Soon it was dropping like a plummet. Tail skyward, it plunged into the bay.

Across the still water came a terrific crash. I stood rooted to the spot, horror-struck.

A speedboat dashed out toward the wrecked plane. On its deck, ready for their gruesome task, I saw stretcher bearers, surgeons and divers.

The tail of the wrecked plane and a part of one wing protruded from the surface of the water. Pilot and student were caught in the wreckage below, both unquestionably dead.

The speed-boat drew alongside. Divers splashed overboard with pliers and wrenches. In 20 seconds one emerged dragging a limp form after him.

I think I must have held my breath while the rescue party struggled for the other flier. Finally the boat shoved off. Someone near me said in a low voice, "The wrecking barge'll have to get it."

"It." So that's what you were after a crash! Just a body. It!

I felt downhearted.

After a while I walked away. Perhaps I'd get used to it. Suddenly I was grabbed from behind. The thought flashed through my mind that perhaps I'd been asleep and had had a nightmare. Now someone was waking me up.

"Hello, Dick Byrd!"

It was my old friend and classmate, Nathan Chase. He paused in the middle of his greeting. I suppose my face revealed more than I wanted it to.

"Don't mind that," he said and nodded toward where the wrecking barge was moving up to the wreck that contained it.

"Have 'em often?" I asked him.

"Oh, every day," he said. "Sometimes two or three times a day." Then in the next breath: "Want to go up, old man?"

I'm frank to say that was not the moment I would have selected to go up. I hadn't suddenly lost my nerve.

Nor had I changed my mind about becoming an aviator. All the prime yearning for action was still in me. I was just temporarily nonplussed. I've since learned what the feeling means. And I've found that the best antidote for it is prompt and vigorous action.

HE SHOULD BE A FRIEND OF YOURS

Wouldn't you like to drive to the office in the morning and speak thusly to your favorite "traffic cop" when he beams upon you—as though nothing ever happened to make him angry!—passing: "Good morning, Officer Rafferty"—or else, yell, "Hi Teddy!" Well, The Sun-Telegraph's series 'Traffic Cops" will tell you how. This fellow today may be found in East Liberty, but don't spend the day hunting for him when The Sun-Telegraph will tell you his name tomorrow.

TUESDAY'S "TRAFFIC COP" WAS SAM NEILLIE, MARRIED, 7522 BENNETT STREET, A VETERAN OF 22 YEARS OF POLICE SERVICE, WHO HANDLES THINGS AT PENN AVENUE AND BEATTY STREET, EAST LIBERTY.

CLARK EXAMINES 'CAPTIVE' SCRIPT

Director James M. Clark, of the Department of Public Safety, requested by a committee of the Pittsburgh Council of Churches to bar "The Captive," was undecided today as to what his attitude would be.

The play, booked for presentation at the Gayety next week, has been barred from New York, Los Angeles and Detroit.

Clark is reading the play, but is inclined to take the position that he can do nothing until at least one performance has been given, because, he says, there are frequently variations between the script and a play as performed.

Attorney W. H. Pratt, of the protesting committee, argued, however, that it is not necessary to let the play be presented publicly. Clark, he said, could direct the management to give a private performance for the guidance of the police.

MOTHER JAILED, BABY SON DIES

Morgue attaches today are investigating the report that 1-year-old Charles Kapriva, who died Tuesday at the home of his parents at 526 Fourth avenue, Homestead, was the victim of exposure, lack of care and negligence.

Morgue officials say they learned that the child's mother had been sentenced to jail five days ago for drunkenness and that the child had died as a result of being deprived of the mother's care.

The mother, Mrs. Anna Kapriva, was released from the county jail yesterday, the fifth day of her sentence, having been sentenced to a term of 15 days by Burgess John Cavanaugh, of Homestead.

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 5.

I got to figure some way of laughing Mr. Hearst out of that five thousand that I lost on Calvin. I don't know just how five thousand bucks' worth of jokes is going to strike him. He don't need the money and on the other hand he may say he don't need the jokes.

I will repeat to him the nominating speeches made at both the conventions. The Republicans and the Democrats paid a couple of hundred thousand for them so they ought to be worth five.

By rights, Coolidge should be made to pay half this bet. He layed down on me. If he will pay half I will pay half in money, or here is another way out.

I will bet the five I owe that Mr. Coolidge will "choose" to run in 1932 in case Al or Herb (whichever one gets in), don't turn out to be what they are cracked up to be. So I hereby go on record as being the orginial "Coolidge for 1932 man."

YOURS, WILL ROGERS.

TWO STOLEN IDOLS

MYSTERY! THRILLS! ADVENTURE! LOVE!!!

by FRANK L PACKARD

Mindar Singh Gives Bob The Second Idol, Which Is the Cypher Key

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

The body of Tom Kingsley is picked up by Capt. "Scarface" Sweeney and his mate, Marlow, off Singapore. Tom's brother, Robert, also an old "sea dog," is notified of the death and receives articles found on the corpse. Among these are two small but handsomely carved Ivory Idols. Robert Kingsley has good reason to believe that Hsi Yan, an ancient enemy, has returned after 30 years to seek vengeance. The Idols are stolen and Young Bob starts out to recover them. Bob finds Java Dick in Singapore, who promises his help in solving the mystery. The Idol contains the key to a great fortune. Bob hears the story of Hsi Yan's fight with his uncle.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

BOB KINGSLEY made an affirmative gesture with a hand that was tightly clenched.

"And then?" he prompted tensely.

"Then, Sahib, I went out of the house to search for Kingsley Sahib, but I must have walked as in a daze, for I remember nothing of where I went until I was on the beach by the water, and was in the hands of the Chinamen who were even then going off to the junk in their boat. Sahib, they made me a prisoner, and took me with them, for the reason, I think, that I might tell them where Kingsley Sahib, who had the two idols in his pocket, had gone, and likewise what had become of Hsi Yan. But they learned nothing from my lips, for the sickness grew worse upon me from my wound, and I became without knowledge of what was passing around me. So, then, as the Sahib knows now, they did not think to go back again to the house to search for Hsi Yan, for they had already searched the house; and so without finding Kingsley Sahib or Hsi Yan they were forced to sail away before they should bring upon themselves the vengeance of the Sahibs in Kalawa to whom word would be taken by Kingsley Sahib's servants of that which had been done. And I, Mindar Singh, they took with them, and they took me to a house in Singapore, where, until tonight, I remained their prisoner.

"Sahib, I feared greatly for my life. The finding of the body of Hsi Yan was made known everywhere, and I was of no more service to them for what I might know about Hsi Yan; and then the word came that Kingsley Sahib had been found in a boat and I was of no more service to them because of that which I might know about Kingsley Sahib either. But up to this time, Sahib, I could have told them nothing, even had I known that which they asked, for I lay between life and death. Then my mind began to renew its strength, and I knew they questioned among themselves whether or not they should put an end to me, for they could not let me go free lest I bear witness against them. And so, fearing for my life, I made pretense as I grew better that my mind had lost its reason; but though they did not kill me, they still kept me a prisoner. Then with the passing of the days they began to think of me as one turned into a harmless fool, and they set me work to do like that of a slave within the house."

Mindar Singh spread out his hands.

"The tale is long, Sahib. I come now to the end. Because they began to believe that my mind was robbed of its power. I learned many things in the place where I was kept. And thus it became known to me that Chen-shu and four others were chosen to go to Patua and bring back the idols that had been sent to the Sahib's father when the body of Kingsley Sahib was found. I know not what befell Chen-shu and those four, save only this: Chen-shu returned this morning and talked with him whose name is Hsun Chi, and who is a leader with Chen-shu of those who were on Hsi Yan's junk. Sahib, they had given me, the feeble-minded one, some work to do in an upper room and I was forgotten. But the walls between the rooms were thin; and, besides, Sahib, they did not know that I Mindar Singh, understood their tongue, for I had made pretense that it was unknown to me in order that I might the better protect my life. Sahib, Chen-shu made report to Hsun Chi that he had brought back only one of the idols, and that the other was in the hands of a woman who had made her escape from a distant place on the Sahib's ship and with the Sahib himself, whom Chen-shu said she loved. They talked long together, but knew not what was best to do, save that the one idol Chen-shu had brought back should be locked up and hidden in a certain lacquered chest. That was this morning, Sahib; but this afternoon there was much coming and going from the house and much excitement because the Sahib had come to Singapore in his ship. Sahib, when it grew dark all left the house, for what purpose I know not, except only Hsun Chi; and it was in my mind that the chance had not only come so that I might flee, but, with Shab's presence in Singapore, I made sure that the shelter and protection, of which I would be in great need if I escaped, would be given to me by the Sahib because of those things which had come to pass. And so, Sahib, I stole upon Hsun Chi and struck him down so that he became unconscious; and the lacquered chest, which was known to me and whereof they had spoken, I broke open, and from it I took the idol, and—"

"You—what?" Bob Kingsley leaned far across the table, almost shouting his words. And then he stared—and then he laughed in a half-mad way. In Mindar Singh's extended hand was a little white ivory god.

CHAPTER XLIV.

"EVEN so, Sahib!" Mindar Singh and I took the idol, and have brought it to the Sahib, for it belonged to the Sahib's uncle, Kingsley Sahib, and therefore now it is the Sahib's. I know not where the second idol is, unless it be true, as Chen-shu said, that the woman who escaped with the Sahib, and who—"

"It's no secret to Chen-shu or any of the rest of them now where the second one is!" Bob Kingsley flung out excitedly. "I've got it! And the one you've got's the other, all right—no mistake about that! Lord—we'll mate 'em! He ran into the stateroom, jerked open the single drawer the washstand possessed, and returned with the second idol. "Now, let's see what's in the one you've brought—you said you knew how to open it, didn't you?"

"Yes, Sahib," replied Mindar Singh—and from beneath the folded hands of the idol, which he held, he shook out a little paper pellet. This he unrolled and spread out on the table.

Bob Kingsley, his face flushed, his pulse hammering, bent over it. It contained a line of seven figures—nothing more:

9485261

He looked up at Mindar Singh.

"Yes! Go on, Mindar Singh!" he urged breathlessly. "What does it mean?"

"Sahib," said Mindar Singh, "in the Sahib's language there are 26 letters, and the sum of the numbers on the paper is likewise 26, so that there is one for each letter."

Bob Kingsley added the seven numerals rapidly—and shook his head.

"They make thirty-five—not twenty-six," he corrected.

"Yes, Sahib," said Mindar Singh; "but it is not in that way they must be counted. Let the Sahib put each figure into writing, and, for so said Hsi Yan, he will find that he has twenty-six letters."

"You mean that for the figure '9' I must write the letters n-i-n-e, and so on?"

"Yes, Sahib."

"And then?"

"Then, Sahib," Mindar Singh explained, "below these twenty-six letters let the Sahib set down the twenty-six letters of the English language in the order in which they run, and the meaning of what is written on the paper in the other idol will become plain."

"I see!" exclaimed Bob Kingsley eagerly. He crossed the cabin, came back with pencil and pad, took out the little ball of paper from the second idol—and suddenly, with a short laugh, pushed the idols and ciphers a little away from him. He had gone a bit mad in his excitement! The second idol, of course, contained only the spurious cipher he himself had written. He stared for a moment then at Mindar Smith; and, perhaps, because he had been too intent upon the man's story to notice it particularly before, it struck Bob Kingsley now that the other looked tired and ill, and he saw that the man was leaning heavily for support upon the table. Oh, well. Mindar Singh had already explained the key to the cipher fully enough so that he, Bob Kingsley could go on with it, all right. There was just one other thing, though—this place where Mindar Singh had been held prisoner—the headquarters of Chen-shu's gang! "See here, Mindar Singh," he said in a kindly tone, "you look done in. You need food and rest, and you shall have both at once. This cipher, I fancy, will take some work. I'll go at it presently, and stick to it, too, if it takes the rest of the night; and, if this treasure of Hsi Yan pans out, you'll have your full share of it."

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By Adele Garrison

Lillian Helps Madge Out of a Quandry

THE photograph which I held in my hand was an unmounted one, evidently taken by an amateur. It showed Edith Fairfax in a standing posture, against an angle formed by two ivy-covered walls. Her head was thrown back and her lips were parted in a smile. Across the bottom of the card were a number of words in her fine script which I knew as well as I did my own. They stared up at me as if they were sentient things.

"Every appearance of happiness, but appearances are deceiving—sometimes. Am writing you a book.

"Always, Ede."

My fingers trembled with the primitive impulse to tear the paper in a hundred pieces. But I controlled it and slipped it into a pocket of my motor coat until I could decide how best to return it to Dicky. I did not wish to give it to him, for he would know that I had seen it, and I was in no mood to listen to any explanation of his concerning the photograph if he tried to be conciliatory, or to pit my anger against his if, as was possible, he chose to assume that I was trying to censor his correspondence.

I could not send it to him nor could I leave it lying upon the floor for anyone to discover. I could not destroy it and permit Dicky to think he had lost it, although I was strongly tempted to pursue that easiest way. There was but one person who could help me, and I hurried to Lillian's room and knocked lightly upon her door. I hoped that she had finished the nap which she had gone to her room to take immediately after our searching expedition for Junior, when she had thought she recognized the red-bearded man.

But when she opened the door to my knock I knew that she had not slept. Her eyes had the strained look in them of one who has courted slumber in vain, and her face was lined deeply as if with pain.

"Are you ill?" I asked abruptly, my errand forgotten.

"No, indeed," she returned. "I had a bit of a headache, but it's gone now. What's on your mind?"

I was not convinced, but I had no alternative save to accept her statement at its face value. Lillian never permits anyone to go behind her returns.

"Dicky dropped this just now," I said hurriedly, for I did not know at what second he might miss the photograph and go in search of it. "And I want to get it back to him without his knowing I have found it."

She took the photograph from me and looked at it for a second, her face non-committal.

"Humph!" she ejaculated at last, and all the dislike which she feels for Edith Fairfax was in the word. "Where is the Dicky-bird?"

"In his room getting ready for dinner. We came in from the station not two minutes ago and he went directly upstairs."

"Then we've just time to get down," she said with a little grin. "Come on."

She opened her door softly, and peered out stealthily.

"Coast clear," she whispered. "Beat it."

I obeyed her and when we were safely at the bottom of the stairs she asked: "Where did you find the pretty picture?"

For a second I gazed at her uncomprehendingly then a feeble imitation of a smile quirked my lips, and I pointed to the spot where I had picked up the photograph.

Skin eruptions successfully treated from within

SKILLED physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy."—Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

—purely vegetable

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, you don't have that tired, languid feeling when you awake in the morning. Instead, you feel, refreshed, ready to meet the world.

Your appetite is keen—you enjoy work or play—your skin is clear, cheeks naturally rosy.

All this because rich, red blood builds and sustains the body.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

8-YEAR-OLD'S SHOW AIDS MILK FUND

Two of today's gifts to The Sun-Telegraph Milk and Ice Fund are from children. Eight-year-old Ruth A. Pease, of Bryn Mawr road, heads the list with a gift of $2.15, which she raised without any help from grown-ups by giving two shows for the benefit of the babies of the fund. A part of this amount was raised last fall, too late to be added to the fund of that season, so Ruth decided to give a second benefit and promises still another one as she is ambitious and keenly interested in the fund and its splendid work. Eleanor Wright and Anne and Priscilla Chandler, of Point Breeze, have sent $1 which is duly acknowledged.

The remaining donations on today's list are from the Thursday Sewing Club and the Schenley High School 'Improvement Company, which with the others, bring it to a total of $395.51.

WOMAN GETS DIVORCE ONE WEEK AFTER SUING

It took Myrtle V. Lewis, 418 Taylor street, only one week to get a divorce from William Edward Lewis, a butcher. In 1923 Mrs. Lewis remarked to her husband, "You cannot leave me, because we are going to move tomorrow."

"Go ahead and move; I'm going home," was his reply, and that was the last seen of Lewis. The couple were married in 1921. Judge Ambrose B. Reid granted Mrs. Lewis her decree.

When a Man Goes in for Washing Dishes

"THE best housekeeper I ever had," said a young married woman the other day, "was a man.

"It was in a little village down in Maine where we lived for two years. Maids were scarce and I prevailed upon Joe to help me in the house. Joe had been in the Navy, and later had had his own fishing schooner.

"I have never known a woman who was so scrupulously neat as Joe. The way he washed dishes, for instance, was a lesson in efficiency.

"First he scraped and piled them all according to size. He used Lux for the suds in the dishpan, because, he said, Lux made better suds in half the time of anything else, also because Lux was easier on his hands.

"Sailors, he said, use Lux because their hands are often badly chapped and broken and Lux is soothing.

"Now I myself follow Joe's plan in doing dishes, and I always use Lux. The difference it has made in the looks of my hands is really amazing. Lux keeps them so white and smooth, that I've passed on the hint to my friends."

Because Lux contains none of the harmful alkali found in many household soaps, whether flakes, chips or cakes, it never irritates even the most sensitive skin, never dries the delicate oils of the hands.

And the big package of Lux washes 6 weeks' dishes.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

MAKING A PET OF HIMSELF

SOME men are born bachelors, some achieve bachelorhood, and some have bachelorhood thrust upon them; by fate—or a doting mother.

The first are to be shunned; no marriage they might make would ever "take." The last are to be pitied. But the self-made bachelor is his own fault! He got that way by making a PET of himself!

* * *

You know the type. The kind who would let NO woman stand between him and an artichoke or a steak with mushrooms; who would not sacrifice an afternoon of golf or a good night's rest for the most thrilling romantic adventure. The kind who has made a god of his personal comforts and amusements, and has cheerfully sacrificed his heart and all his natural impulses on the altar thereof.

HELEN ROWLAND

A confirmed bachelor is always a pessimist. His life is one long fight to defend his freedom and his self-indulgence. He is a collection of habits entirely surrounded by cynicism and suspicion. He feels SO sorry for himself!

But when he thinks—just academically—of marriage, and considers that it might mean eating round steak instead of partridge, smoking ordinary cigars instead of the very best, going home before midnight and spending his money for necessities instead of on his own sweet luxuries, he puts the idea from him with a shudder, exactly as he would shove aside a burnt chop.

The self-made bachelor is a bachelor because he doesn't need anybody to help him LOVE himself. The love that he wastes on himself is the love that passeth understanding. It is his one grande passion!

He doesn't even need a woman to help him spoil and coddle himself. Or to help him mother himself. He can "be a mother to himself," thank you, and he spends practically all his time in trying to find out what Baby Boy wants next.

Then he wonders why he isn't happy. For the world may be full of unhappy married men; but there is no such thing as a perfectly happy unmarried man, over 35. Placing all your affection on yourself is putting your love in the wrong bank, where it yields no interest. The only love that pays dividends, is the love you give away.

* * *

Nothing on this earth, from a good dinner to a good time, a good joke or even good luck, gives you much of a thrill, unless you can SHARE it with somebody. Happiness consists in achieving something FOR somebody or WITH somebody.

* * *

There are lots of "married bachelors." But a married bachelor is really wedded to his own whims and pet habits, and his wife is merely the co-respondent. He may have his home, his business and his hobbies, but his chief life-work is making a PET of himself!

Horoscope

Friday, July 6

A DAY of intrigue and subtle doings and dangers is the presage based upon the lunar as well as mutual aspects. In employment, business and in fresh undertakings this menace is dominant. It may be best circumvented by taking every precaution, signing all papers cautiously and safeguarding against treachery in every direction.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of unusual experiences, in which intrigue or duplicity may figure, business as well as employment and new projects.

A child born on this day may be singularly endowed, with unusual traits and talents, but it may need rigorous training and education to assist it to turn these to good account.

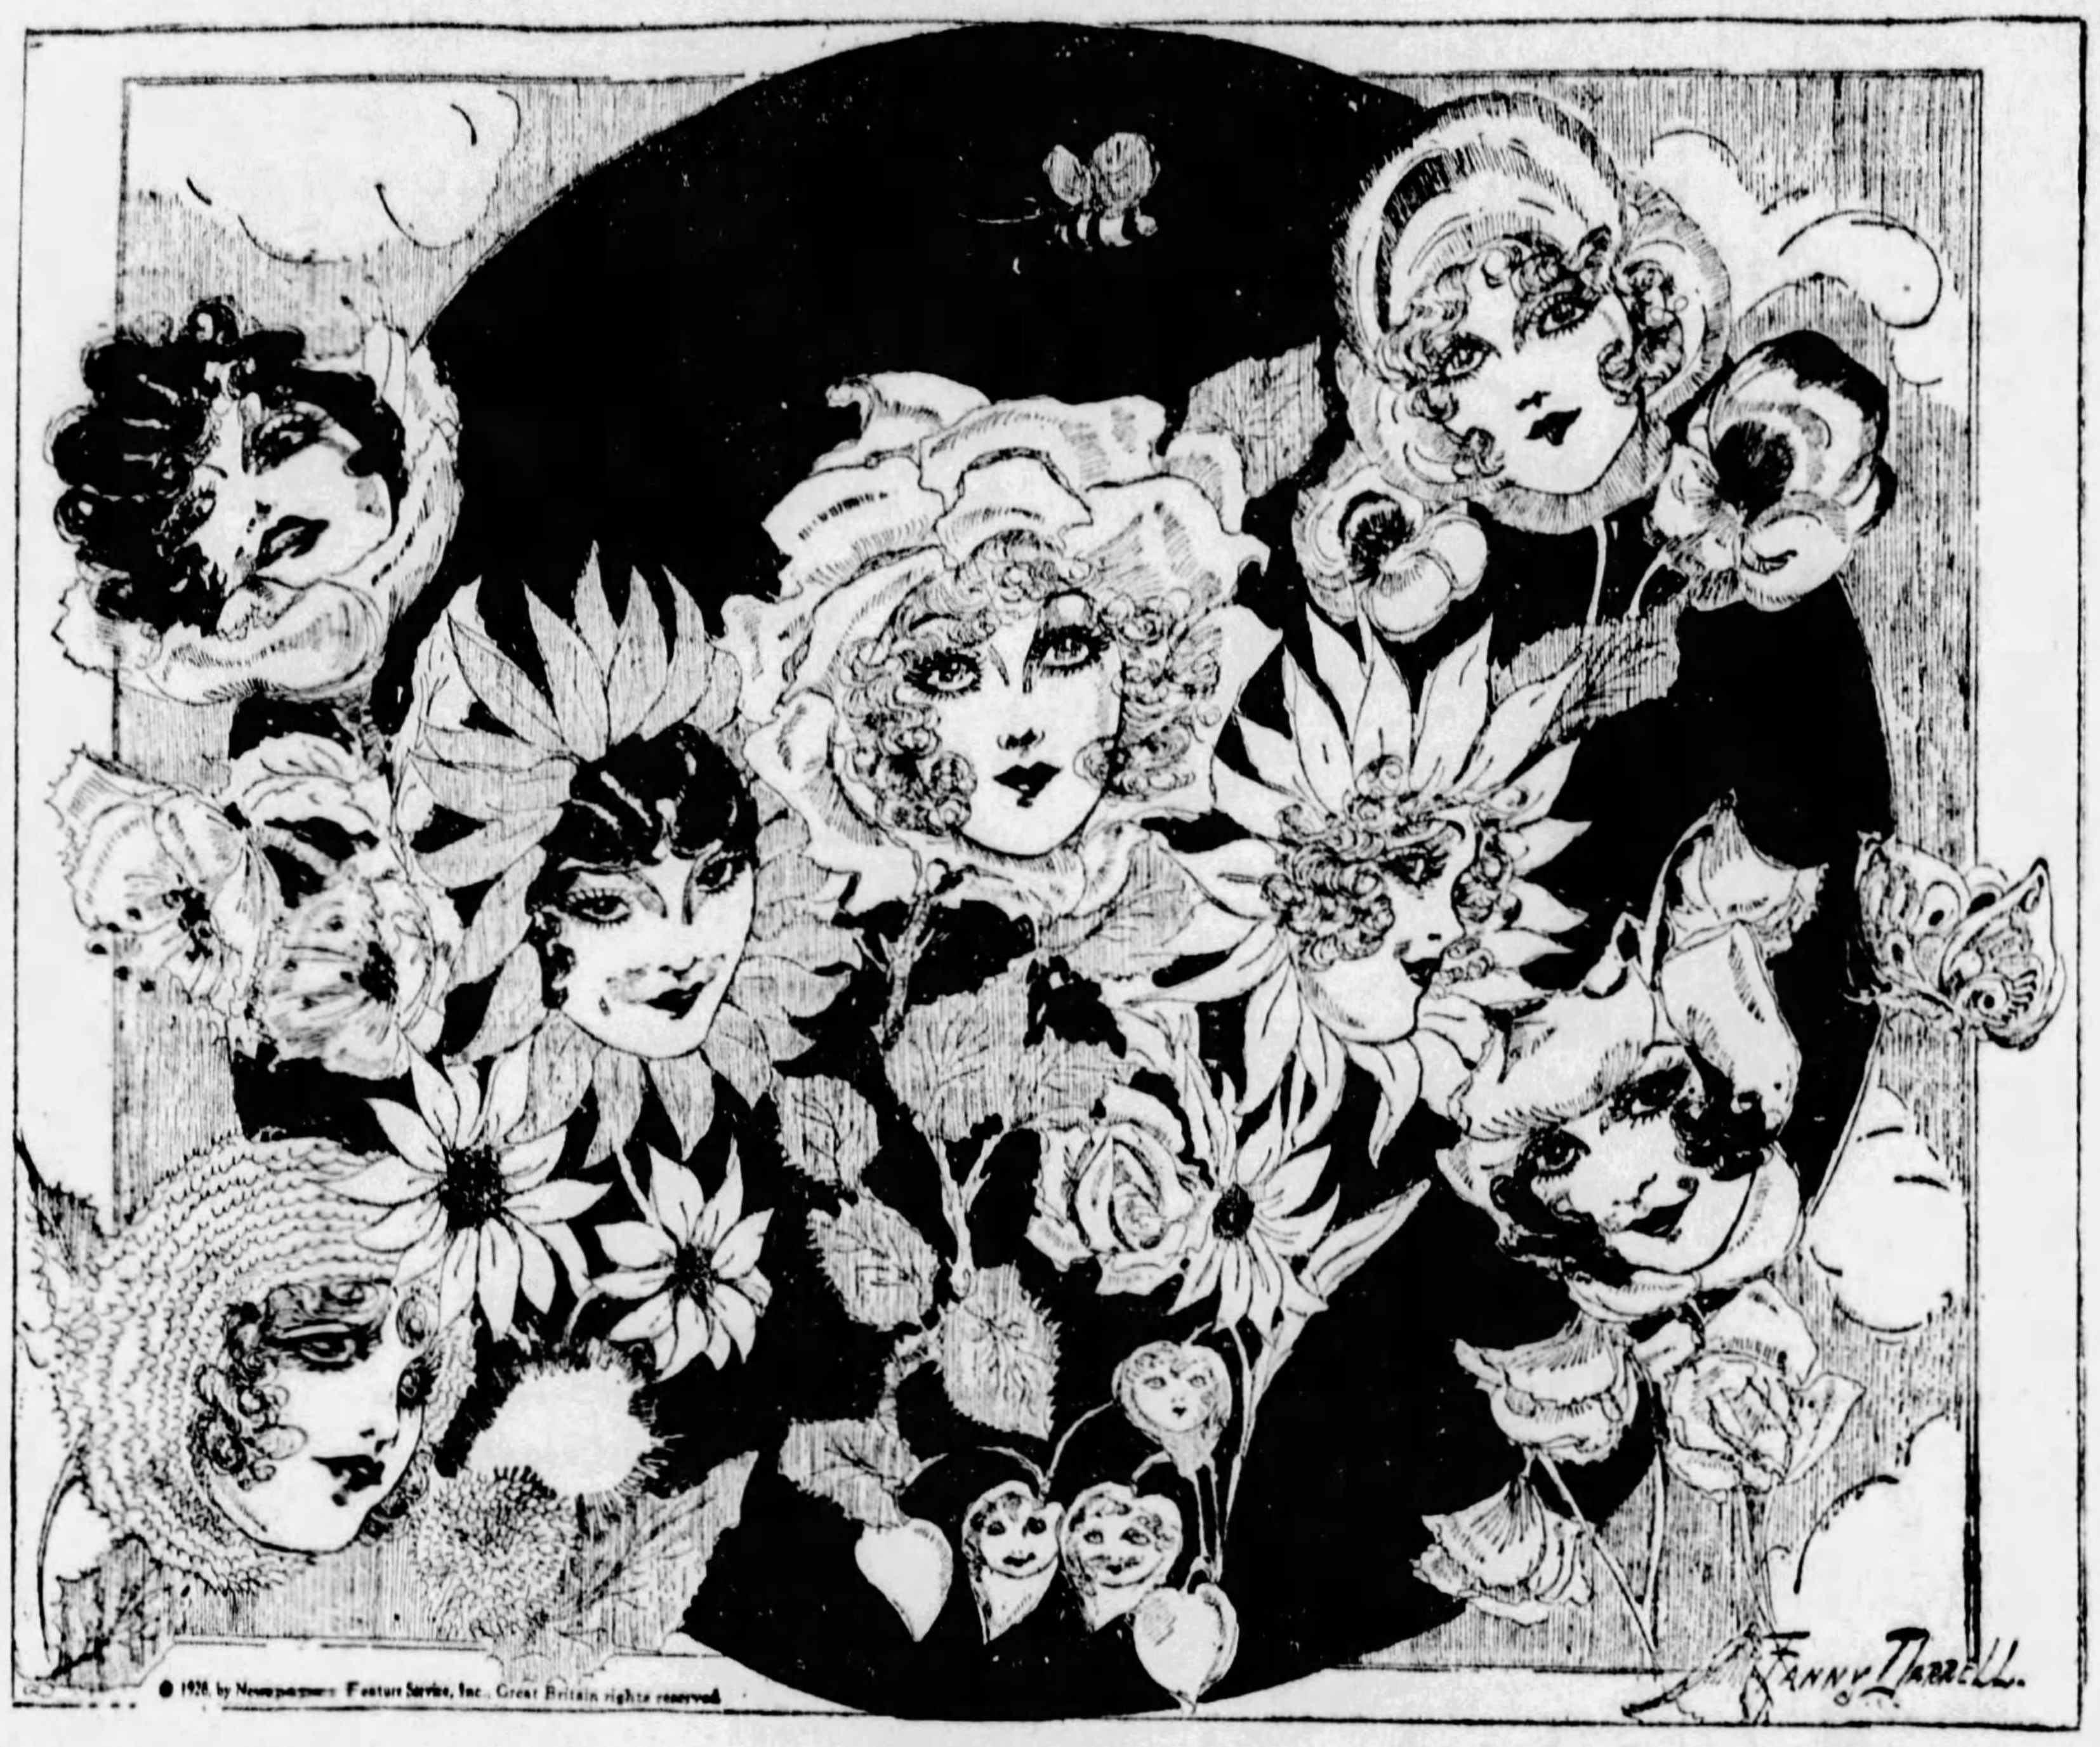
A SUMMER BOUQUET -:- -:- By Fanny Darrell



© 1928, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.
FANNY DARRELL

DAISIES and marigolds and roses and pansies and poppies—all in an adorable bouquet of riotous loveliness. A truly Summer bouquet of sweetness. And each flower typifies the girl of your dreams. Perhaps she's the shy, quiet pansy, or the tomboyish daisy. Or maybe you prefer the quaint old-fashionedness of the nodding marigold. And again you see the glowing poppy laughing and daring you with her brilliant coloring. Then the queenly rose, stately and lovely in her proud way. And way down in the corner you find the shy, bewilderingly lovely wild rose. What lovelier bouquet can you imagine? It's so hard to determine just which is the one you want. Oh, well, you'll soon find out, for Dan gives them these disguises just to make it a little harder and to make sure that when you do make your choice, it will be the right one.

For the Lovelorn

By ELEANOR GALE

Perplexed

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am 18 years old and go with a boy of 20 that keeps me guessing. Half the time I don't know whether he likes me or not. He doesn't believe in seeing or telephoning a girl at any certain day or time, and practically lives with his buddy. By that I mean that he would rather go out with Cy, as I shall call him, than with a girl. He says if you see a girl too often you get tired of her, yet he can see his friend every night of the week and not get tired of him. I have been going with him approximately two months. Within that time he has been to the house once and we have been out machine riding once. All other times, which aren't many, we have been meeting at a friend's place. It isn't that it is a fixed date all the time, but he asks me when I'm going up there again, and when I tell him he says he will be up there, too, if Cy will go, but if I don't go then he doesn't. He says the reason he doesn't come over to the house is because he's trading his car in for another one. The night he came out home he brought Cy along, and when he comes to these peoples' place he brings Cy along. Most girls that go with steady fellows have dates Wednesday and Sunday nights, but my friend prefers going out with Cy on Wednesday night, and if I go to my friends I see him Sunday night; otherwise I don't. This family lives about three miles from my friend, and I live about 15 miles from them. When he takes me home he brings Cy along, and yet he does not want me to go out with other fellows. It makes me angry clear through to think that he can't do a thing without having Cy at his heels. I almost come telling him a few times to choose between us, but I hate to part them, as they have been buddies for nine or ten years. What can I do? Do you think that he can possibly care for me? The two of them are going to start a chicken farm, and I was talking to another girl and said, "I see where I'll have to find a new boy friend." He said, "You better not. We'll be up to our friends' every Sunday night just the same." See, he'll expect me to go every Sunday night just to see him. Do you think it's fair? I wonder.

PERPLEXED.

You are making a big mistake in letting this boy dictate to you so much. If he wants to see you, let him come to your home. Don't make it so easy for him. Why should you travel most of the distance between your homes just to be with him at your friends' home? Stop seeing him and he will soon decide between you and his friend.

Two Pals

DEAR MISS GALE:

We are two girls, 16 years of age, and are the best of friends. One is a blonde with blue eyes, the other a brunette with brown eyes. We are considered quite good looking. We have been going with two boys who are great chums for some time. We do not approve of smoking, drinking or petting, but the boys do. Do you think that going with these boys will ruin our morals? They both have one trait of character which we do not admire. That is, they are terribly conceited. What can we do to help them overcome this undesirable trait? Please advise, and with hope.

TWO PALS.

The boys will outgrow their conceit, I think, when they have had a few of the knocks of life. Don't worry about that. If they do not bear a good reputation, then you are harming yourselves by going around with them.

B

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your column for some time and get much good out of the advice you give others. Now may I ask you to help me? I am a girl 19 years old. I have had a lot of trouble and trials the past year and a half, and have not had much time to think of anyone else. But lately I was talking to one of my girl friends and two fellows were there. I did not know either one of the fellows, but my friend did not know this. I left them for a few minutes and then came back, and this one fellow was gone. I then told my friend I did not know these boys, so she introduced the one. But, Miss Gale, this was not the fellow I wanted to meet. It was the other one. As we talked things were said and this fellow answered as though he knew me. I have seen him since and he seems as though he wants to speak, but just seems to be backward. Miss Gale, should I speak first? For I do want this boy's friendship, not just to forget my troubles. But I think I love this boy. Perhaps not love, but time will tell. How can I gain it?

B.

I can't quite understand from your letter which one of the boys you see so frequently. If it is the one you met, why don't you speak to him? If it is the other, there is nothing you can do about it.

"Broken Hearted"

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am 20 years old, and the fellow with whom I have been going out with for the last three months is 23 years old. One time when I was out with him he told me that he would not see me any more. I felt very bad when I heard him say that, but I didn't give him an answer to it. So last week as I was walking down the street by myself he happened to see me and he came walking after me and asked if he could walk home with me. I told him that he could and that day he asked me for a date, which I was very glad to have him ask. The next time we went out he told me that he wasn't intending to get married yet, only in about three or four years from now. Again I felt very bad when he said that, but I didn't give him an answer to it. So now, Miss Gale, do you think that he will change his mind and get married sooner, for I love him so much that I cannot lose him? I want him to be mine—all mine. Or do you think that he is only trying to see if I really do love him? I do and I always will. Many of my friends tried to take me away from him, but they will never be able to, "for love is love." Dear Miss Gale, his birthday is going to be soon. Do you think it would be all right if I should get him a little gift? Of course he hasn't got me anything yet; only has been taking me to the shows quite a few times. Please don't tell me to wait three or four years for him, for I cannot; that is entirely too long to wait. Am thanking you in advance, and kindly give me your answer as soon as possible, for I am

BROKEN-HEARTED.

But, my dear, if he is so definitely against getting married soon, what can you do about it? Your trying to force the matter would only antagonize him. If I were you, I wouldn't set my heart too much on this boy. He doesn't seem to be very deeply in love with you.

Your Hands Speak

By Edna Wallace Hopper

While you perform hundreds of commonplace tasks everyone present watches your hands.

You pour tea. You open your purse. You shake hands with an acquaintance. You put on your gloves. All day long people watch your hands.

Do your hands speak for you? Do they suggest daintiness? They can be firm, capable and at the same time exquisitely kept with practically no effort. Youth lotion is rubbed into the skin, leaving your hands smooth and dry, so that you can wear gloves immediately after applying.

Just keep a bottle on your dressing table and one where you work (in your kitchen, your office or shop). Use it every time you wash your hands.

The pleasurable sense of feeling your skin so satiny—of seeing it so soft and white—is worth a good deal more than the slight effort. The cost is trivial. You can get a large bottle of my Youth Hand Lotion at any toilet counter, 60 cents.

DID WONDERS FOR CRAFTON LADY

Ten Herbs Made Great Change, She Says; Benefited Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

"Ten Herbs has really done wonders for me," was the statement of Mrs. Effie H. Miller, 247 Densmore Avenue, Crafton, Pa. (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this popular natural medicine to crowds of men and women.

"For the past four years I suffered with stomach, liver and bowel trouble," Mrs. Miller continued. "My system finally became in such a weakened, run-down condition that I was almost a nervous wreck. I was so weak I could hardly walk through the house. Often after eating, indigestion and biliousness would be so bad I could hardly breathe, my breath would be so short, and I would have to sit down until the spell passed off. At these times gas from my stomach would work up around my heart, causing it to palpitate. My system seemed to be filled with poison, as during the day I would become so drowsy I could hardly keep awake. Then when night came, I would be so nervous I could not sleep.

"Reading a number of statements of local persons in the papers, praising Ten Herbs, induced me to try your medicine. I have taken several bottles, and can honestly say that I am a changed woman. I have a better appetite, and can eat almost anything without fear of gas, bloating, or heart palpitation. My bowels are regular, and my liver is working fine. The drowsy [illegible] have left me, and I feel stro[illegible]r and better in every respect. [illegible] nerves have become quiet, an[illegible] now I sleep the whole night through. I gladly endorse Ten Herbs to the public, so that persons who suffer, as I have, may give your medicine a trial and get the same good results that I did."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

One Helpful Way to Lengthen Years

PERSONS past fifty years of age should not overlook the importance of submitting to periodical examinations of the urine. "A stitch in time saves nine," it is said, and certainly the early discovery of kidney trouble leads to successful treatment for overcoming it.

DR. COPELAND

So often have I told you the way to cure disease is to avoid it that I suppose you get sick and tired of my preaching. You will forgive me, however, when you recall that I am trying to make you live to be a hundred.

Isn't it funny how people differ on whether they want to live to be old or not? Next time you have occasion to speak to a group of little boys or girls, ask for a show of hands on living to be a hundred. Not one hand will be raised.

Ask the same question of a group of men and women past 60. Every single person will vote yes.

If you really want to live to be a hundred, you must take care of your health. You must not wait for the ugly symptoms of disease to gnaw at your vitals. You must anticipate events and seek by early attention to head off serious illness.

To this end, periodical examinations of the urine are tremendously important. Conditions found will guide your doctor in giving advice and medication.

It is not normal to have blood in the urine. It is an important symptom. It is not a disease—it is merely one of the signs of one of various conditions which require attention.

There may be a lot of blood, actually coloring the urine, or there may be just the slightest pigment. It may make the urine smoky, or there may be a deep red color. There may be clots of blood. It may be present all the time, or only on occasions.

In inflammation of the kidney, there may be marked congestion and occasional bleeding. Following a hard blow across the back there may be blood in the urine. This is due to a broken blood vessel, of course.

The blood may not come from the kidneys at all. It may be due to the trouble in the tube leading from the kidney to the bladder. It may be in the bladder, or the passage way to the exterior from the bladder may have a damaged surface.

If changes in the urine such as I have described are noticed, it is your duty to take a sample to the doctor at once. By making certain tests he will decide if blood is really present and if it is, from what part of the urinary system it comes. By chemical, physical, X-ray and microscopical means he will decide what is wrong with you.

As in all troubles where bleeding is a symptom, quiet is important. Go to bed and keep still till your doctor passes judgment. He will give you the correct treatment to put you on your feet.

BLACKBURNE SOX MANAGER

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Pitching Slump Is What Causes Bucs to Play So Poorly as Team, Bush Says—Earnshaw Bloomer to Date—Errors Behind Him Always Rile Pitcher Hoyt.

THE double defeat of Independence Day that spoiled the big holiday for the baseball fans of the Pittsburgh district and caused the Pirates to sink deeper into sixth place, failed to daunt the spirit of Manager Donie Bush or to shake his confidence in his team.

Donie Bush.

Fandom was disgusted with the two exhibitions given by the Buccaneers and the clean sweep made by the Reds in the three-game series. For nothing but a pair of victories, or at least an even break, will satisfy a holiday crowd.

THERE was a man in the Pirate club house at the finish who no doubt felt worse than any of the fans over the day's adverse developments, for Manager Bush had set his heart on changing the team's ill luck after a record-breaking run of misfortune.

But Donie forgot his own personal feelings to rush to the defense of his team. Severe criticism of the Corsairs for their repeated defeats and poor playing caused the stout-hearted little manager to swallow his own disappointment and to try to explain that the slump of the club was perfectly natural and not due to any misbehavior, lack of harmony on the team nor half-hearted effort on the part of some of the players, as charged by those who seem to find their keenest delight in besmirching some one's character or "setting the mob" on him when he may have done absolutely nothing wrong.

"WHAT'S the matter with the Pirates, Donie? What's the low-down on the club's disappointing showing up to date?" Bush was asked after the games.

"Only the inability of some of our first-string pitchers to show their best form to date," he replied. There you have the whole reason in a nutshell.

"Probably it will be said in contradiction that there have been faults in other directions, that there has been poor fielding on some occasions and poor batting and generally poor playing on others." It's tough on all of us and hard to endure but it's all due to one thing as I mentioned in the first place—the lack of consistently good pitching.

"ALL of the other troubles have been due to the poor pitching. When pitching that is not up to par continues for a long period the entire team is thrown out of line. The players lose confidence in themselves and their pitchers, cannot play their right game and everything goes wrong. That has been the case since baseball was first played and will continue to be as long as the game lasts. You never will see a club playing good ball as a regular thing unless the pitching is up to major league requirements. But what hurts me more than anything else is to hear certain of our players abused by the crowds, when I know in my heart that nothing of the sort is warranted. These players are taking the best of care of themselves, are trying their hardest all the time but are repeatedly upset by the razzing of the crowd.

"A LITTLE encouragement might work wonders. When any of the Pirates are lax in their observance of the playing rules, I'll be the first to punish him, but I am not going to stand by, hear my players abused and listen to all sorts of accusations being made against them. There's isn't a better behaved club in any league than the Pirates as the average club goes, and neither is there a harder working one.

"They are simply up against a baseball situation that any man with diamond experience knows occurs on every club when the pitching is not there. There is nothing else wrong with the Pirates, and they'll soon prove it."

PITTSBURGH isn't the only ball town to suffer some disappointment in the expectation that certain players, particularly pitchers, would pan out big.

There are the followers of the Athletics in the case of George Earnshaw, for instance.

Earnshaw is the latest of Jack Dunn's high-priced stars to break into the majors. As usual, it was reported that Connie Mack paid a huge price for Earnshaw, but from all that the pitcher has shown it was money misspent. He has pitched four games and lost them all. George came into the big show

REDS MAKE SWEEP OF SERIES HERE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

THE Pirates, still feeling the effects of the double jolt handed them by the Reds on the Fourth, get a welcome relief today when their scheduled opening game of the series with the Giants at Forbes Field was postponed because of the heavy downpour. The battle will be played off the next time the Giants reach Pittsburgh, and there will be no double-header in the current series.

NEW PILOT NEEDED, SCHALK SAYS

CHICAGO, July 5.—(AP.)—As the Chicago White Sox sped eastward today, Russell (Lena) Blackburne, Sox coach since 1926, stepped into his new post as manager of the club, succeeding the veteran Raymond H. (Cracker) Schalk, whose resignation was the surprise of the Fourth of July holiday at Comiskey Park.

Schalk's resignation was effective immediately after the holiday doubleheader. He remained at home today as his teammates for the last 16 years headed into their second eastern trip. He will continue with the club as a player.

Immediately after receiving Schalk's letter of resignation, President Charles A. Comiskey announced the appointment of Blackburne as the Cracker's successor.

Schalk, recognized as one of the greatest players who ever wore the mask, said in his letter of resignation that he was "stepping out as manager in the hopes it will be helpful to the club."

"TEAM GOING BAD"

"The team has been going bad; the results have not been satisfactory, so I step out," was the way he put it.

Cracker came to the White Sox at the age of 19, in 1912, when he was purchased from Milwaukee for cash and four players amounting to $17,000. From the start he made a name for himself, and it wasn't long until he became the sensation of the league as the Sox catcher. From 1913 to 1923 he played in more than 100 games each season, a record that is likely to stand for several years.

When Eddie Collins was removed as Sox manager in 1926, Comiskey gave the job to Schalk. Ray never relished the post, and, on the face of it, was not temperamentally fitted. Some said he was too lenient with the players, and conditions on the club went from bad to worse, apparently leading to Ray's decision that a change in management perhaps would help build up the team.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

FROM the East comes an odd "explanation" of what is the matter with the Pirates. A writer says they are suffering from a hangover from the world series of last fall, in which they were bumped off four straight by the Yankees. "They never got over that crushing blow; they still are dazed and staggering under the thudding effect," he says.

Just why such a condition should exist—and I doubt that it does—is one for keener minds than mine to grasp. The Pirates are not a flock of school children, impressionable to the point that they cannot forget a sad occurrence.

SOME time ago, in this column, I had occasion to remark that the marathon dances are not quite sporting affairs in that they almost invariably drag on interminally with no actual winner and really are more or less the bunk because of the 15 minutes' rest period at the end of every hour of shuffling that isn't really dancing, and suggested, if the craze must go on, something with a sporting touch and a sure winner. I cited a roller-skating contest for mixed couples, modeled along the lines of a six-day bicycle race, as an example of what might be worked out, and now along comes a promoter who thinks this a corking idea and is laying plans for a roller-skating marathon to be confined to two weeks' grind. If there is not a complete elimination within that time the winners of first, second and third prizes will be determined on a basis of laps covered in the race. The skating will be continuous with the partners alternating on the track. Announcement of the scene of the event will be made within a few days.

THE return of Phil Verdi, Rochester, N. Y., featherweight, to New Castle next Monday night to box Rosy Stoy, the Lancaster blond, in the main bout of a show at the Jolly Bowl, recalls an incident that occurred when the same Verdi defeated Eddie Weygandt, one of Jimmy Dime's proteges, at Centennial Field, New Castle, more than a year ago. Rain began falling during the bout, and Verdi, using his gray matter, had his manager, Joe Lotta, remove his shoes and socks and finished the bout in his bare feet. This enabled him to retain a firm footing on the canvas, and he stepped about confidently, while Weygandt had to maneuver gingerly to keep from losing his balance. There is nothing in the rules to prevent a boxer from discarding his shoes, and Verdi won the admiration of the fans with his display of quick wit.

RAIN ENDS BOUT

BEDFORD, Pa., July 5.—Georgie Peck, of Pittsburgh, and K. O. Yutsy, of Meyersdale, Pa., fought through four rounds of rain in the main bout of a boxing show at the fair grounds here last night and then the town's lighting system failed in the storm and the arena was plunged in darkness. After waiting more than a half hour the bout was declared "no contest." Peck held a lead throughout.

BRUSHTON TEAM WINS

The Brushton Republicans defeated the Homewood Republicans in their annual baseball game yesterday, 8 to 2.

Aussies Beat Yankee Team

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 5.—(AP.)—Gerald Patterson and John B. Hawkes, Australia, defeated William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, United States, in the semi-finals of the Wimbledon tennis championships today, 7-9, 7-9, 6-4, 6-4, 10-8.

The defeat of Tilden and Hunter, world champion doubles players, furnished an upset of advance calculations and marked the rapid progress of the Australians who eliminated the star French players, Jean Boratra and Rene Lacoste, Tuesday.

Tilden and Hunter were off in front when they won the first two sets, but Patterson and Hawkes took the next three, although the Americans were within a game of the deciding set when they led 5-4.

As a result of an attack of laryngitis, Senorita Elia de Alvarez may have to scratch her entry in the championship tennis finals with Miss Helen Wills, scheduled for tomorrow. Wimbledon authorities would delay the match until Saturday, but if the Spanish player should be unable to play then Miss Wills would retain the title and probably play an exhibition match for the big Saturday crowds.

Francis T. Hunter and Miss Helen Wills remained in the mixed doubles competition by defeating Scroope and Mrs. Shepherd Barrow, 6-1, 6-3.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, California girl, and Mrs. Joan Austin Lycett defeated Miss L. Bickerton and Mrs. Pat Omara Wood in the women's doubles, 7-5, 9-7.

Daphne Akhurst and Esna Boyd, youthful Australians, put out Kea Bowman of Holland and Miss Evelyn Colyer, 8-6, 6-3.

In singles semi-final matches yesterday, Tilden was eliminated by Rene LaCoste, of France, 2-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3; Henri Cochet conquered Christian Bossus, 11-9, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2; Helen Wills defeated Elizabeth Ryan, 6-1, 6-1, and Senorita DeAlvarez overwhelmed Daphne Akhurst, 6-3, 6-0.

DOUBLES FINAL ON SATURDAY

The long-deferred, much-delayed finale of the fortieth annual Western Pennsylvania tennis championships will be run off on the P. A. A. gallery court at 1 p. m. on Saturday.

Only the title match in the men's doubles division remains to be played. This joust, involving Dr. John O'Loughlin, singles premier, and Dr. Billy McEllroy, former holder of the same crown, with B. P. Hoover and A. J. Glaser, Carnegie Tech stars, was to have been reeled off on Tuesday, but amicable postponment was agreed upon with the result that the racas will be a week-end net feature.

NOTES of the BOXERS

Matt Adgie, Philadelphia's fighting ice-man, boxes Mike McTigue in one of the feature bouts of a show at the Phillies baseball park, Philadelphia, next Monday night and has been promised a battle with Tommy Loughran, the light-heavyweight champion, if he makes an impressive showing. Roberto Roberti and Jack Gross box the windup Monday.

Andy Tomosky, who is summering at Atlantic City, is matched to box Eddie Law in an eight-round bout at Philadelphia, July 12. He has other bouts pending in the East, among them a chance to show his wares in New York.

SHAW TAKES AUTO RACE

The 50-mile feature race on the half-mile board speedway at Bridgeville yesterday was won by Wilbur Shaw, of Detroit. He finished the grind in 40 minutes 10 seconds. Bill Chittum, of Columbus, driving a Rajo special, was second; Sam Grabisk, of Slickville, third, and Bill Landau, of Crafton, was fourth. Joe Catone, of Youngstown, won the 25-mile event in his Frontenac. His time was 19 minutes 20 seconds.

Lloyd Black, of Saltsburg, in a Black special, barely escaped serious accident when his car crashed into the pits on the twentieth lap of the 50-miler.

A spectator was near death when he was hit with a tire thrown from the car of Bill Landau as he was ending his final lap. The man, whose injuries were reported to be slight, was said to have been Wilbur Goldback, of Bridgeville.

FECHTER VICTOR

BUTLER, July 5.—The annual Fourth of July 100-mile auto race here yesterday was captured by Herbert Fechter, of Pittsburgh. His time was 2 hours 5 minutes. R. Turner, piloting a Star, was second, six laps behind Fechter.

No injuries of consequence marred the event.

DOUTHIT, BOETZ WIN

MONONGAHELA, July 5.—Although three drivers were seriously injured, the two holiday races here yesterday went over big. George Douthit, of Donora, copped the 25-mile stock car event, and Jack Boetz, of Donora, captured the 50-mile free-for-all.

Ivan Mikan, Trafford City; Elmer Vickers, Finleyville, and John Kaseppa, of Donora, were injured in a bad spill during the contest. None was believed to have broken any bones, although all three cars were demolished.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

very fat, and the one hope of Mack and the Philadelphia rooters are that he will show some real form after this is washed off.

WAITE HOYT, who is having a big year with the Yankees, becomes peeved and sore like Vic Aldridge and others when one of his mates makes an error behind him and admits it.

"I cannot conceal my feelings on such occasions," he said. "Another thing to which I object is that very often errors by the fielders are scored as hits, and a run that is batted behind a pitcher goes into the record as an earned run. And that's where I, in common with every other pitcher, have a kick coming, because pitchers are paid on their earned-run averages and not on the number of games they've won and lost.

"IN THE matter of hard chances handled by the fielders, I see no reason to make a fuss. Anybody can handle an easy chance.

"These fellows are big-league ball players and they're expected to handle the hard ones. If that sounds too hard boiled I'll amend it. If somebody comes up with a ball I never thought he could get to I'll cheer as loudly as the next one."

Vic Aldridge.

THOUGH few of the modern fans around here are aware of it, the late Attorney Rody P. Marshall was in his youth quite a ball player in this district. He played in what is now call the independent or semi-pro class and was a member of the old Manchester team, backed by the original John S. Robb.

Mr. Marshall, who was an outfielder, played under the name of Hall. One of his team mates who later became fairly well known in baseball was Honus Wagner. Mr. Robb by the way was the real discoverer of Wagner, though in those days few gave a thought to Honus as a baseball possibility, as the big prospect in the family apparently was his brother Al.

IN TWO holidays at home the Pirates have lost all four games. On Memorial Day the Cardinals trimmed them, 10 to 1 and 4 to 3, and yesterday the Reds repeated the double drubbing.

JAP DOUDS, WASH.-JEFF. STAR, SERIOUSLY HURT

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 5.—Forrest (Jap) Douds, Washington and Jefferson gridiron luminary, was a Fourth of uly casualty when a sky-rocket, fired down the center of Main street, hit him in the face with such terrific force that he was thrown to the pavement. His lip was torn for several inches, and two teeth knocked out. Fifteen stitches were required to close the lacerations.

Douds went to the hospital for treatment.

SEIFERT AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 5.—Sandy Seifert, Pittsburgh heavyweight, makes his Chicago debut tonight, against Otto Von Porat, the Norwegian, who is the favorite to win because of his hard punching ability.

NEW YORK, uly 5—Tod Morgan is a 7-5 favorite to retain his junior-lightweight championship in his 15-round bout with Eddie (Cannonball) Martin at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, tonight.

ROETTGER OUT FOR SEASON

ST. LOUIS, July 5.—(AP.)—Wallie Roettger, Cardinal right fielder, was seriously injured when his right ankle was fractured twice and dislocated in a slide to third base yesterday. The club physicians said the outfielder would be unable to return to the game this season.

SAMUELS GOES TO TIGERS

SCRANTON, Pa., July 5.—(AP.)—Manager Gus Getz of the Scranton club of the New York-Pennsylvania League, yesterday announced the sale of Joe Samuels, right handed twirler, to the Detroit Tigers of the American League. Samuels will report to Detroit at the close of the New York-Pennsylvania season. Charley Shorten, veteran outfielder, has been handed his outright release.

TWO HOLES IN ONE

Dr. C. I. Wendt scored a hole in one on the fourth hole at the Pittsburgh Field Club and Alexander Jackson tallied an ace on the seventeenth hole at the Westmoreland Country Club during holiday golf matches yesterday.

FARRELL-SARAZEN LOSE

NEW YORK, July 5.—(AP.)—A 20-foot putt by Aubrey Boomer, of France, on the eighteenth green gave the French star and Archie Compston, of England, a 1 up victory over the National open champion, Johnny Farrell, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Gene Sarazen in an exhibition match yesterday at the French Meadow Country Club.

CHILLY SAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

EVERY member of the Pittsburgh team realizes that the slump of the club is due in a large measure to the most ineffective pitching any Pirate club has experienced in many, many seasons. In view of these circumstances the "booing" of a player like Glenn Wright is not the best kind of sportsmanship.

Wright has been hustling and playing good ball since the season started; his better than .300 bat has driven in more runs than anybody on the club, until a day or two back when Paul Waner passed him. He was "booed" yesterday when he muffed one as he tried to grab Grimes' throw at second in one hand with the idea of getting two runners on the play. He is one of the best shortfielders in the sport on this very play and he makes it a dozen times where he misses fire once.

IF THE pitching were up to Wright's play since the bell rang, the Pirates today would be well up in the money. Unfortunately the four righthanders of whom much was expected have failed to live up to anything like their previous form. Kremer, Hill, Miljus and Meadows are not anything like the same quartet they formed last summed. There was a well-defined feeling that these four players would be able to go along with Grimes, but Burleigh is the only one who has come through, and now there is a danger that he will impair his effectiveness by overwork.

Kremer's case seems to be even more pathetic than that of Meadows. Lee cannot pitch at all, but Frenchy seems to limber up in his customary manner only to lose his stuff when he goes to work. Whether the effects of his bad case of influenza are still on him nobody seems to be able to determine. It is patent that he cannot hold a lead or work nine rounds impressively.

OLYMPIC TRACK STARS CHOSEN

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—(INS.)—The American Olympic team for the 400-meters hurdles, selected following the final tryouts here consists of F. Morgan Taylor, Illinois A. C., who set a new world record in the event when he topped the timbers in 52 seconds; Frank Cuhel, University of Iowa, John A. Gigson of New York, last year's champion, and Robert Maxwell of Los Angeles. Taylor regained his national A. A. U. title.

Those named in the 400-meters flat are: Ray Barbuti, New York A. C.; Emerson Spencer, Stanford University, Joseph T. Tirney, New York, and Emil Snider, New York.

Barbuti and Snider covered the distance in 48 seconds, a new U. S. record, but Barbuti won the title.

Pete Bowen, representing the Pittsburgh A. A., was shut out in the first final heat yesterday afternoon.

PICKARD CANUCK CHOICE

HAMILTON, Ont., July 5.—Victor Pickard, of the University of Pittsburgh, is one of three Canadian athletes developed in United States colleges selected to represent Canada in the Olympic games. Phil Edwards, half-miler, of New York University, and George Hester, University of Michigan sprinter, are other Canadian team members who have been schooled in United States competition.

Babcock Indorses Tourney

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER

COUNTY COMMISSIONER E. V. BABCOCK, father of the new county parks, who has done more for public links golf, perhaps, than any man in Pennsylvania by his foresight in providing for two public courses, one in each of the new Allegheny County Parks, in commenting in The Sun-Telegraph's first annual West Penn amateur junior golf tournament for the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, to be held on the city's municipal links in Schenley Park, Thursday, July 12, said:

"The sponsoring of a golf tournament for the younger boys of Allegheny County by The Sun-Telegraph is to be commended. The very nature of the game itself appeals to the sport-loving public for the reason that it is equally enjoyable to young and old. The construction of new courses by the city or county will serve a good purpose in bringing the game within the means of those who cannot afford the expense of membership in a private club."

Eight Places To Be Filled

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER

DESPITE a torrential downpour which flooded the course, a large and eager field started play this morning for the eight places on the Pittsburgh public links team which will participate in the national public links championship at Philadelphia, beginning July 31, and also defend the Warren G. Harding trophy, emblematic of the national team championship, which was won by the local delegation at Cleveland last year.

Many new players were in the field, along with the "regulars" who were out to make the team again. Carl Kauffmann, National and City public links champion, was playing his best to make sure of his place so that he may defend his championship.

The Schenley Par links are in the best possible condition for the big event. Six playing members and two alternates will be selected according to their low scores from the 36-hole medal play round today.

The city championship will be held in September, and the Women's City championship in August, according to John Jay Burke, executive committeeman of the Public Links Section, U. S. G. A., who overseess all U. S. G. A. public links affairs for this district.

with the Giants, but will not appear in uniform, as he did on the occasion of their first visit of the campaign. He will direct his forces in civilian clothes from the bench, as an aftermath of the injury which laid him up for a long stretch.

The Reds made a complete sweep of the three battles with the Pirates, winning yesterday's embroglios, 6-0, in the morning, and 11-3.

Manager Bush will change the top sections of his batting order for the first battle of a three-game set with McGraw's classy team. Sprout Waner, lead-off hitter of the Buccos during most of last season and all of this year to date, will step aside for Sparky Adams. Sprout will swing into the second notch.

ADAMS GOOD AT LEAD-OFF

The new arrangement of the battle-front looks impressive. In the first place Lloyd has not been getting on with much consistency and the records show Sparky has long been a good lead-off hitter. It is to be sincerely hoped the move will help the offense of the club.

The lamentable condition of the Pirate sharpshooters was reflected yesterday as the team took a double-coated pasting from the hustling Redbirds. Eppa Jeppa Rixey, however, deserved his success over the Pirates in the morning game. The Pirates are known as a good hitting club, but Rixey held them runless through nine frames. Any time a pitcher holds the home team to no scores he is entitled to a triumph.

Joe Dawson made a sorry attempt to hold the Rhinelanders in the forenoon clash. Joe eventually gave way to John Miljus, Walter Tauscher also getting a turn on the mound in this contest. It was just a case of too much Rixey, so we'll have to let it go at that.

But, oh, how the Pirates did flop around in the afternoon fracas. Burleigh Grimes, realizing the distressed condition of the slab staff, essayed to stop the Reds, despite the fact that he worked a part of the game on the previous afternoon.

Grimes was cheered to the echo for his nervy exhibition even as he was being shelled. The fans realized that Burleigh was working under a handicap; moreover, the Reds were aided in no small way by the "bushy" fielding display put on by the supporting cast. Five misplays were made in this game, the team as a whole giving a miserable exhibition.

Ray Kolp started and finished this loose contest for the Reds. The invaders treated themselves to four tallies in the second inning, a handle hit by Walker filling the bases with nobody out. Grimes had all sorts of tough luck in this round.

The loose fielding of the Pirates was so pronounced that it may have affected their hitting, and the questionable "razzing" to which the team was subjected certainly did not add to their morale.

The individual prowess of Chuck Dressen had a lot to do with the second setback of the Pirates during the day. This small, but spirited third-sacker made no less than five runs and his bat connected for three hits. Others on the Red club tried to keep up with Chuck, the idea being humiliating to the Oaklanders.

NEW TROTTING, PACING MARKS SET AT SCHENLEY

Trotting and pacing records were established in the Fourth of July matinee of the Schenley Club held in the Schenley Oval with an exceptionally large crowd in attendance yesterday afternoon.

The fastest half mile was trotted by Midnight, when he reached the half in the lead in 1:05½, but was beaten by less than a foot in 2:14¼, the season's record.

A. M. Lieb won two races, one of them the free-for-all pace, by Silent Lou, to equal the season's pacing record of 2:15¼, set by Arion Silk in the first heat.

Mary Scott won the fourth event, setting the track record for the season at 2:14¼. Neffco Boy, a newcomer to the Neff stable, was best in the second event, trotting the first heat in 2:15. Banron the Great won the green trot, and Miss Neffco the colt race.

50,000,000 Motor Cars in Sight for United States

By B. C. FORBES

"BY 1950, only 22 years hence, I prophesy that 50,000,000 motor cars will be owned in this country."

That is the imagination-stirring statement made by Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, whose practical skill, rare courage, and cool head enabled him to become the American "ace of aces" during the World War and who is now a Cadillac-LaSalle executive.

"On what grounds do you base such an estimate?" I asked him. I soon discovered that he had not talked at random, that he was able to produce facts and figures to substantiate this faith in the automobile industry's future growth.

SINCE the fulfillment of such expansion would vitally affect business and employment all over the country, these statements by Capt. Rickenbacker will arouse keen, widespread interest:

"In 1910 there were fewer than 500,000 cars owned in the United States. In the short period of 18 years the automotive industry has built and sold approximately 29,500,000 cars.

"In 1915, there were fewer than 2,300,000 cars owned here. In 13 years there have been sold approximately 27,000,000 cars.

"CALIFORNIA is the only 'roadized' state in the Union. Twenty years ago it appreciated the value of good roads and started to build them, opening up hundreds of thousands of square miles of fertile land, multiplying its value and its earning power and multiplying the purchasing power to such a degree that the state today boasts of an automobile for every one and seven-eights men, women and children.

"So, if we wish to visualize 50,000,000 motor cars owned in the United States we can see the picture in California at the moment: or if we wish to visualize 65,000,000 owned in the United States in relation to 120,000,000 population, we can see it in California at this time.

"BEARING in mind that the highways of today were super highways 15 years ago, we may be able to glimpse what the super-highways of 10 to 15 years hence may be—from ocean to ocean as the crow flies, 200 to 400 feet in width, differentiation between through and local traffic, avoiding cities instead of being diverted through them, with speeds for the through traffic of from 75 to 90 miles an hour.

"These super-highways will also run from border to border—not only one, but half-a-dozen will span the continent both ways.

"Our present arteries of traffic through cities will be widened and double-decked, and grade-crossings eliminated.

"MOTOR cars will accomplish these high speeds on through traffic highways because there will be no obstacles for hours at a time, and because of the engineering development—to say nothing of the mental development—which must come through progress.

"Even today 65 to 70 miles an hour are much safer, with the improved steering devices, lower centers of gravity, better steels through metallurgy in steering knuckles, spindles and axle housings, better wheels, tires, highways and mentality than were 40 miles an hour 15 years ago.

"CITY congestion and parking will be eliminated, as is being done in California today and started in many other cities, by the erection of artistic 10-story to 20-story garages in the downtown districts, as it has been proven in a limited way that the dollar invested in the same square area in a garage as is invested in a hotel or a department store is a better earner.

"Garages of great height will be built in conjunction with office buildings permitting storage on the same floor with your office. Department stores will add garages for the convenience of their clientele while shopping.

"OUR population has increased an average of 2,500,000 per year for the past eight years; by 1950 we will have a minimum of 150,000,000 population, which, with 50,000,000 cars, would give us a ratio of only one for every three inhabitants.

"Bearing in mind that we still have approximately 50 per cent of our country in the form of virgin territory without contact by transportation, the natural development will add untold billions.

"Then the time will come when it will be just as commonplace to take your automobile abroad with you as it is today to take your trunk. No boxing or crating will be necessary.

"KNOWING that the rest of the world is just starting to appreciate the utility value of the motor car and that other countries will build roads eventually in proportion to our own road program, it is not difficult to foresee the production of 10,000,000 motor cars in the United States within 15 years, as 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 per year will go to export and 6,500,000 to 7,000,000 will be used for home consumption, replacement and new buyers."

DOES not the foregoing strike you as reasonable rather than fantastic?

LOWER LOAN RATES BOOST STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 5.—(AP)—Lowering of the call money rate from 6 to 5½ per cent today stimulated the recovery in stock prices which set in early this week. Extreme gains of 2 to nearly 11 points were distributed over a broad list, with nearly a score issues moving into new high ground. Trading showed a marked expansion in volume sales in the first three hours running just short of 1,400,000 shares, as contrasted with less than 1,000,000 in the corresponding periods on Tuesday.

Private advices from Washington that the treasury department looked for an easing of money rates after the quarterly settlements had been completed went a long way in restoring bullish confidence.

Banks called $5,000,000 in loans but plenty of new money poured into the market. Except for reports of further improvement in the oil and copper industries, there was little in the day's trade news to influence the price movement. The sudden death of Alfred Lowenstein, Belgian financier, which is reported to have unsettled European finance markets, was without visible effect on stock exchange prices.

High-priced specialties were again in the vanguard of the advance. Case Threshing soared 10⅜ to a new record high at 256½; Wright Aeronautical soared 9½; Indian Refining preferred 8½ to a new high at 193, and Dupont 8x. Midland Steel Products preferred, Rossia Insurance, National Tea, Radio, Montgomery Ward and Commercial Solvents sold 5 to 6 points higher.

Rils moved forward with the industrials, although the buying was more centralized. Texas and Pacific jumped nearly 5 points to a new peak at 172¾, and Bangor and Aroostook sold 6 points higher.

Renewal of selling pressure against American Woolen preferred carried that stock down more than 2 points to 45½, the lowest price since the company was organized 30 years ago.

MELLON LAUDS NEW BONDS

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(AP.)—In discussing the long term treasury bond issue today, Secretary Mellon said that he did not believe the bond investor would be influenced by the present situation in the short term security and call money market.

He said that the 3⅜ per cent interest rate on the new issue is the same as that of last July 15 offered in the retirement operations for the second Liberty's which was successful. This was regarded as indicating that the Treasury feels that the future holds a healthy outlook.

Secretary Mellon indicated that the final operation for the retirement of the 3d Liberty's redeemable September 15 will be a short term issue.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Consistent Strength in Stocks.

The market maintained a consistently strong tone throughout the greater part of the session despite the fact that there was little hope entertained of any pronounced ease in the money market for the next six weeks or so. Call money was 6 per cent on the opening and later receded as more funds from the mid-year dividend and interest payments found their way back to the banking centers. Money market observers point out that time funds have been quoted at 6 per cent firm recently and this fact precludes the probability of much less than an average of 6 per cent or better in the call money market. There was considerable difference of opinion as to what the weekly loan report would show when it is issued after the close today. More than $400,000,000 reduction was brought about in the preceding three weeks, but as the couse of stock prices has been upward during the greater part of the period covered in today's report, some observers are inclined to believe that a moderate increase may be shown. There has not been much incentive to take new securities issues off dealers' hands during the past month of high money rates and little can be expected in the way of decreased loans from that angle.

Mining Stocks Strong.

Metals and mining shares were in strong demand and the buying forced prices of the leading stocks to the best levels since the beginning of the reaction early last month. Increased dividends by some of the leading metal companies and prospects that others will raise their rates before the year is out was a principal factor in today's buying. Copper prices continue firm at 14⅝ cents a pound domestic delivery, and 15 cents, European port. In the New York Curb market Noranda Mines scored a further sensational advance to above 55 as compared with the year's low of 17⅛. Newmont was also in good demand. The Street's explanation of the Noranda Mines advance is that important interests which sold the stock lower down are now on the buying side again.

New Treasury Offering.

The United States Treasury Department announces an offering of Treasury 3⅜ per cent bonds dated July 16, 1928, and due June 15, 1943. The issue will be a combined offering for cash amounting to $250,000,000 and in exchange for outstanding third Liberty loan 4¼ per cent bonds. The new issue does not reflect the condition of the money market, in the opinion of Secretary Mellon. Mr. Mellon expressed the opinion that long-term bonds are not affected by call money rate and intimated that he expected the condition to clear up before next September, when the treasury will probably conduct a refinancing program on a short-term issue.

Loew's Profits Expand.

Loew's Inc., net income totaled $6,377,101 for 40 weeks to June 30. Equal after allowing for dividends on the preferred stock issued the first of the year to $5.55 a share on 1,060,192 common shares issued. Against net of $5,464,899, or $4.63 on the same capital for 1927.

Dome Mines Production.

Dome mines June output is valued at $329,193 against $300,687 in May and $332,527 in June, 1927. For six months output is valued at $1,874,950 against $1,940,808 last year.

Brussels Bourse Emergency Meeting.

A special meeting of the Brussels Bourse was called to consider the Loewenstein situation. Reports said that he had endeavored to obtain control of the Bank of Brussels recently. Opinion was expressed that despite the bad breaks in the Loewenstein stocks, his estate will be able to realize a surplus.

Schroeder Takes Charge.

The J. Henry Schroeder Company, international banks, announced during the day that it had undertaken all the responsibility for Capt. Lowenstein's interests. The bankers value his holdings at 11,000,000 pounds. These will not be thrown on the market, the firm said. One Belgian newspaper carried a report that it was generally believed Lowenstein committed suicide because English banks refused a credit of 200,000,000 francs, which he needed to cover important obligations in Brussels. Following the Schroeder announcement, there was a strong rally in the Lowenstein stocks, notably in International Holding Investment Company and Hydro-Electric Securities Corporation. Capt. Lowenstein was said to have obtained control of important water power properties in Canada and other countries through securities purchased by these trusts. The Schroeder company said a projected loan of $25,000,000 to Lowenstein had not been refused, but had been held up only because of unfavorable market conditions.

Car Loadings Decrease.

Loading of revenue freight cars for the week ended June 23 totaled 986,789, a decrease of 16,503 cars from the week preceding and 31,271 cars below the corresponding week in 1927, the American Railway Association reports.

Exchange Members' Loans Off.

Stock Exchange loans showed a decline of $375,794,794 dollars, being $4,898,391,487 dollars on June 30, against $5,274,046,281 on May 31. These are total net loans of New York Stock Exchange members on collateral contracted for and carried in New York. Of the total on June 30, demand loans comprised $3,741,832,505 and time loans $1,156,718,9882, against $4,070,359,031 and $1,203,687,250, respectively, on May 31. Total loans for May 31 represent the peak to date, while the low for 1928 was $3,420,351,541, made January 31. The high for 1927 was $4,432,907,321, made December 31, and the low was $3,138,786,388, on January 31. The high for 1926 was $3,535,590,321, February 27, and the low $2,767,400,514, on May 28.

West Virginia Gas Cut Approved.

Permission to establish a special temporary reduced gas rate for industrial consumers using 1,000,000 cubic feet or more of gas a month has been granted by the West Virginia Public Service Commission to the Clarksburg Light and Heat Company of Clarksburg. The special rate will be effective until December 1, and was requested by the company because several industrial concerns had installed equipment for producing gas from coal and reduced the industrial demand for gas.

Hardware Trade Optimistic.

Hardware distributors in leading market centers are optimistic for summer trade, Hardware Age will say tomorrow. The wet weather during the month of June delayed much work calling for hardware and paints. That this work will go forward during July and that it will contribute to a good volume is confidently expected. Market prices have remained fairly firm and no drastic changes are looked for at this time. Retail sales for the first half of 1928 are about up to those of last year. Collections generally are ranging from slow to fair.

LONE STAR GAS FIRMS UP

A quiet trading session marked the resumption of business on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange following the July Fourth suspension of activities. Prices were steady and volume was about unchanged.

Lone Star Gas came into the market in larger amounts with the price showing a slight rising tendency, due apparently, to sustained operations in some of the high-grade oil issues on the New York exchange. Arkansas Gas common and preferred were both unchanged in the early session.

Miscellaneous manufacturing stocks were dull with only one issue, Armstrong Cork appearing in the sales list up to the end of the first hour. Armstrong was steady and unchanged at 57½, still refusing to go forward in response to the patent suit victory won by the company last week. There were a few small-lot trades in the brewing stocks but only the smallest fractional changes were noted in that department.

There was a little trading in Harbison-Walker common in the late market with the stock showing a moderate gain over the last previous close. Pittsburgh Plate Glass was the only stock handled in that division and sold up three points from the level established in the latter half of last week. Standard Sanitary and Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt changed hands in small lots at small fractional changes from the previous finals.

YOUR WILL

The Life Preserver of Your Productive Days

THERE are many of the younger men in this town who control moderate sized business enterprises, which have very substantial prospects for the future.

Through hard work and keen judgment, the groundwork has been laid, and the present value of their stock does not approximate its value five years hence.

Assume that the majority stockholder of any such enterprise dies prematurely without a will, leaving a widow and two minor children.

The law gives one-third of his holdings to the wife, and the remaining two-thirds to the children.

The danger in this situation lies in the fact that the shares possessed by the children must, within a year, be converted into CASH—without regard to the future possibilities of the stock.

Control is thus dissipated, and neither the wife nor children benefit by the vision and work of the man.

The only way to avert such a situation is by a properly drawn will—establishing a Trust, centralizing control—permitting the business to realize its full potentiality.

Men who are confronted with this situation, should consult our Trust Officers.

New Rail Official Here Sees Good Business Ahead

The Pennsylvania Railroad looks for better summer business out of Pittsburgh than usually prevails, E. W. Smith, new vice president, Central Region, just installed here, asserts. He sees that indication in heavier movement of coal to the Northwest and the improved state of the steel industry, which, he believes, calls for greater ore hauling into the district. Another straw, he says, is the growing export steel business, formerly a few carloads, now frequently as high as three trains of steel daily.

It takes a railroad man to feel the industrial pulse of any district. Pittsburgh is especially watched because enormous tonnage originates here. When a man in Mr. Smith's position states that there is no reason for pessimism, it is the same as having someone in another line of business become extremely optimistic.

Presidential election years heretofore have been looked upon as having a depressing bearing on business, but it appears the present may prove a notable exception. There is no good reason why it should not. We have our business to attend to, our homes to build, our groceries and clothing to buy, our livestock and crops to care for just the same as usual. Nature is not disturbed because we hold an election and is on the job doing her best to help us all the time.

As Mr. Smith says, there is no reason for pessimism.

Death? Certainly

Pistol Shot? Never.

A man in New York jumped overboard, tired of life. A policeman threw him a rope; he wouldn't take it. He refused the rope three times. Then the policeman, having exhausted his resources, became a policeman, pulled his revolver and said, "Come on ashore, or I will put a bullet in you."

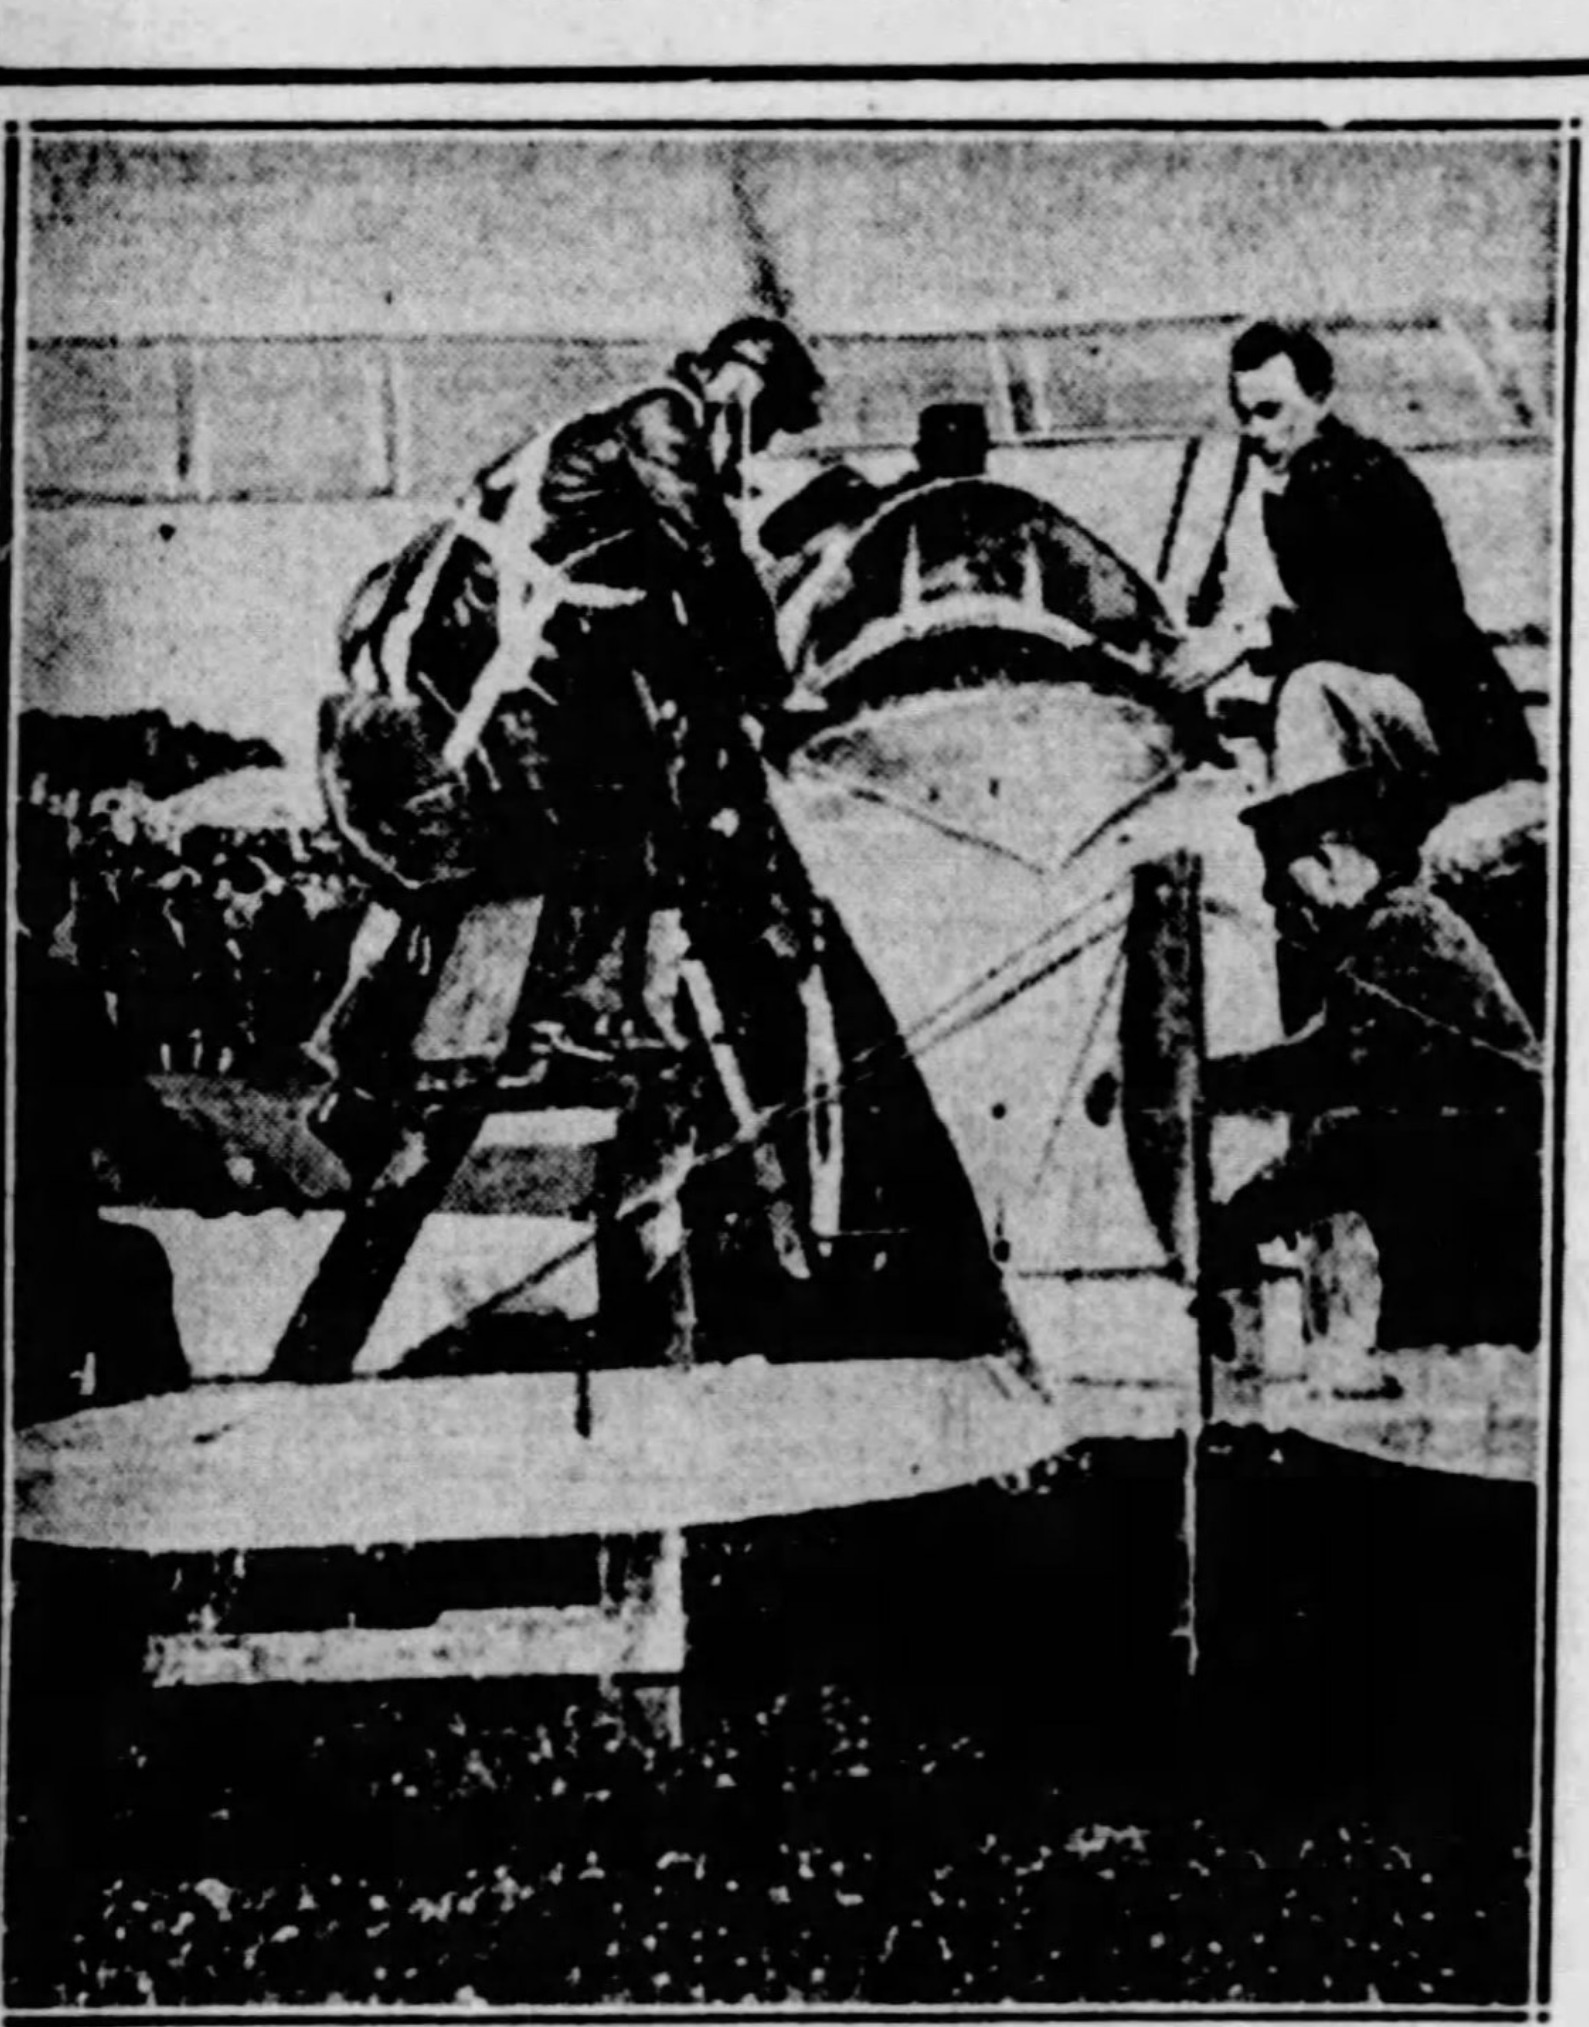
The would-be suicide, a sailor, came ashore. He wanted to die, but DIDN'T want to be shot.

Fear of death in certain forms is interesting. One man because he hadn't the courage to walk along a tree trunk, thrown across a deep chasm, shot himself dead. Another killed himself to avoid the dangers of a duel.

And nearly all of us fear THOUGHT, mental effort, more than we do death itself, and strive to get through life avoiding it.

The Prince Flies

And Britain Worries.



THE PRINCE OF WALES, PARACHUTE ATTACHED, CLIMBS INTO HIS FLYING MACHINE.

The Prince of Wales goes flying, sets a good example, and England worries. What would happen, it asks, if the plane crashed and the Prince were killed?

That would be sad, but the only result would be that the NEXT son of the King would become Prince of Wales and inherit the throne if he outlived his father.

Britain, a great organization, doesn't depend on INDIVIDUALS.

The King wears the crown. The Prime Minister does the thinking under a different hat. The man that will do the thinking when the present Prince of Wales wears the crown probably is unknown now, as the boy David Lloyd George was unknown when the Queen Victoria was wearing the crown and looking solemn.

The anxiety about the Prince of Wales and his flying reproduces the anxiety that was felt concerning his great-grandmother, Queen Victoria. She was born in the days of stage coaches and horses. Britain was amazed, filled with admiration and much worried at her "Reckless Heroism" when she started traveling by train.

They sent another engine ahead of her train and directors of the railroad rode on that engine that they might meet an accident if any were to come.

But the Queen DID sit behind a snorting locomotive, allowing it to drag her over the country, and Britain worried about that.

We smile at the anxiety caused by the Queen's railroad travel. The world will soon smile at the anxiety caused by the Prince's air flight.

Those now living will wonder how men dared to go on narrow railroad tracks, narrow earth roads, instead of traveling safely on the wide paths of the sky, 25,000 miles wide in all directions.

Meanwhile, the Prince of Wales sets a good example that might be followed by some of our prosperous young gentlemen who have nothing to do with their money. They should develop today's airplane, as young W. K. Vanderbilt, 25 years ago, developed the automobile, making it fashionable and improving it, racing at break-neck speed around Long Island roads.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 5.—Glib tongues so responsive to trigger minds in private are often mute in public. With the customary few exceptions, the most intellectual New Yorkers are "flops" as after-dinner speakers. When called upon suddenly, they flounder in helpless despair.

An elocution teacher, who has taught many to make finished talks, is unable himself to rise to the occasion. Oratory is a tricky gift at best. Many who have had a forensic flair for years suddenly face an audience bereft of speech and rarely are they able to gain control of themselves again.

Peculiarly enough, men always ready and anxious to make a speech upon any subject at any occasion are rarely finished speakers. They are merely yappers who have mistaken windiness for oratory. The best speakers are those who have an inherent timidity for public speaking.

Broadway, for instance, has numerous wise-cracking wits who enliven banquets with keen shafts of satire, but generally at the expense of some one's sensibilities. They wound feelings for a laugh and are never those whose speeches are remembered.

There is a well known editor whose duties made it imperative to attend dinners of a public nature. When introduced, he would turn red, make a bow and sit down in confusion. Banqueteers looked upon him pityingly and wondered a little just why he came.

About a year ago as he sat in torture again awaiting his turn to make a spectacle of himself, he suddenly reasoned he certainly had an intellectual equipment to compare with anyone present and could express himself in print far better than they.

Too, he had conversed at one time or another with every man present. In the midst of these reflections he was called upon. He stood for a few seconds for his head to clear, and decided to forget everyone present and address his remarks solely to an intimate friend present. His speech was eloquent. He had broken the spell.

The most astonishing orator to me was W. J. Bryan. It was not so much what he said but his dramatic delivery—his manner of whipping a whisper into a roar. He was often called a mountebank, but it was difficult to hear his speeches and doubt his sincerity. He may have been wrong, but he had the eloquent ring of one who feels he is right.

One of New York's most gifted after-dinner speakers was the late Rennold Wolf, a dramatic critic. He had the sublime gift of choking off a sob with a hearty laugh. And he would never speak for more than 10 minutes.

The most expensively fitted traveling case for a lady has just been completed by a New York jeweler. It was especially made for the daughter of a rich family for a honeymoon trip around the world. The lady prepared a list of 42 articles she believed she would need on her journey. All the articles were mounted with gold and had inset ebony monograms. The case covering was of pin seal. Complete it cost $8,500.

That much money not so long ago would have been sufficient to defray expenses of a first class wedding trip to Niagara Falls and buy a completely furnished home for the bride.

A Greenwich Village snooper reports that one of the dreamy poets has a lavender complex. His typewriter is tinted lavender, the smock he wears in the throes of creation is of the same hue, the studio is flooded with lavender light and so on. In our crochety mean way we'd like to sneak into his bedroom some day and dye his powder puff yellow just to spoil the effect.

* * *

There is only one drawback for those poets suffering with complexes, inhibitions and such. No one ever prints their poems.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Trans-Atlantic Air Travel

NOW, that the Atlantic has been crossed by aeroplane in both directions and by single flight, the question of the best route for trans-oceanic aerial traffic becomes pressing. As a French authority has remarked, the crossings thus far have been sporting feats, and what is now required is the study of the conditions that make for commercial exploitation of this great new route that runs through the air.

Three conditions are held to control the choice of route. These are (1) weather, (2) liaison with steamships, (3) possibility of temporary stoppage. The distance that must be flown in each stage without stop is, of course, also a determining element.

It appears, according to present information, that, all things considered, the safest and most comfortable route for aeroplanes carrying mail and passengers would be that passing across the Azores Islands. The northern route from Ireland to Nowfoundland offers the shortest single flight, but experience as well as meteorology shows that it is apt to be troubled with fog, storms and contrary winds, while it is too far north to be in close touch with trans-Atlantic steamships.

Another line is that following the steamship lane. This is longer than the northern route, and offers no opportunity to land between shore and shore. The only advantage that it presents is that of being nearer ships, from which aid or information might be obtained in a crisis.

The third route is that of the Azores. These islands are about 1,000 miles from Bordeaux (first stage) and 2,420 from New York. On this route the winds and weather are apt to be found more favorable than farther north. The relative absence of confusing fogs and snow and hail is in itself a valuable factor of safety.

In all discussions of this subject more or less attention is given to the question of artificial landing stations in the sea. In order to be of much value, such stations would have to be situated in mid-ocean, where the difficulties in the way of anchoring and securing them would be greatest. We must remember that the Atlantic is two or three miles deep, and, while it would be possible to find in certain localities submarine elevations greatly diminishing the depth, yet these places are all subject to the full power of the ocean waves in storms, and, even if secure anchorage by long cables or otherwise could be obtained, the anchored platforms would in wild weather be wrenched and strained, tipped at varying inclinations, and swept by great waves, that just at times when aeroplanes would have the most need to use them.

Notwithstanding the fact that some of the leaders in aeronautical science and practice are found advocating this scheme of oceanic landing platforms, I cannot believe that it will prove practicable. A patrol of attendant relief ships cruising along the route of the regular aeroplanes would, it seems to me, be more effective as a safety device. But the time should quickly come through the development of the aeroplanes themselves, their engine power, carrying capacity, cruising radius, etc., when they will be as independent of exterior aid as are the great passenger liners today.

Conserving Seafood

FANCIERS of a fine seafood will be glad to learn that another effort is to be made to conserve the halibut fishery.

A generation ago the market's needs were easily supplied by catches in the North Atlantic. But man forgot that it takes 15 to 25 years to mature a halibut. He fished so strenuously that this source was soon depleted. Then he turned to the North Pacific.

There catches at first were lavish and profits tempting. But year by year the reserves diminished until now 1,800 miles of fishing shore do not yield as much as were once obtained in a third of the area.

Four years ago Canada, in her first treaty as a nation, agreed to join us in maintaining restrictions on halibut fishing in the Pacific. A closed season of three months in each year was declared. It proved insufficient.

So now a joint commission is at work drafting increased safeguards. As with seals, nursery areas within which the young of this species may be let alone to multiply and grow are to be set apart and permanently closed.

The sea can give man all the food he needs if man will seek it intelligently.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Are You Over-Aggressive?

MOST positive and unqualified statements are made most frequently by those who have the least knowledge.

A student and a thinker, who has learned that so many things may have a bearing in a given result, knows it is unwise to express a positive opinion, usually.

You know persons who are constantly making statements with the attitude of assurance that implies that anyone who differs with them is lacking in good judgment, don't you?

Possibly this is your fault.

You think that your opinions are beyond question.

To disabuse your own mind you should read deeply and thoughtfully.

Study the opinions of specialists and soon you may find that your conclusions are superficial.

The opinionated person is detestably wearisome.

He is so aggressive in his arguments that it is annoying.

And he is not satisfied with making statements—he must bore it in.

Comparatively few persons are qualified to have positive opinions.

And these persons are least apt to express them.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Who Can Deny?

WHO can look back on life and see
Its intricate design,
Its strange and lovely tapestry
Of changeful hue and line,
And, looking thus, can fail to find,
In scenes of dull despair,
How, still, some threads of brightness wind
Among the shadows there?

Who can look back and fail to see,
When paths had grown most dark,
Most veiled in sombre mystery,
That still there shone a spark.
A spark that led him on and on
Once more into the light?
Who can deny God makes the dawn
More fair because of night?

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THEY'RE telling one more about the Hollywood stars and their troubles. Seems like two of the stars that got married to each other had a terrible time getting along.

"When we're alone," she told one of the other girls, "he just sits and looks out the window, waiting for something to happen. He's so used to having a director tell him what to do next that he won't even kiss me unless I call up his old director and have him come over and holler out the directions through a horn."

Simple

SHE congratulated herself on being able to look after her husband's comfort in every way. She even went so far as to think she could buy his clothes. She entered the clothiers' establishment, where good-looking men in wax wore suits ticketed at thirty-five dollars and upwards.

"I want a pair of trousers for my husband," she said to an assistant.

"Certainly, madam. Can you tell me what size he takes?"

"No; but he's just an ordinary-sized man."

"If you can give me some of his measurements, madam, I may be able to help you."

"Oh, yes," she said, struck with a bright idea; "he takes a 15 collar."

More Than Obvious

A COMMERCIAL traveler, who was passing through the Midlands, found that he had missed his connection and had some time to wait.

He bought a magazine and retired to the waiting-room. Presently a portly official entered.

"You can't smoke in here, sir."

"Why?"

"Must obey regulations, sir," said the official, pointing to a large notice.

"H'm," ventured the traveler, after looking at it, "do you yourself obey such notices?"

The official nodded briefly.

"Well, there's one you don't," declared the other, pointing at the wall where a framed advertisement read: "Wear this and keep your figure slim."

Cruelly Candid

MRS. PLAINFACE was an exceedingly jealous woman.

She had taken her husband shopping, and when she suddenly saw him gazing rapturously at a beautiful young mannequin she was very angry.

She threw down the frock she had been inspecting, much to the annoyance of the girl attending her, and grabbed her husband by his coat-sleeve.

"Herbert, you wretch, you never look at me like that!" she reproached him.

"No," agreed her spouse. "But then you never look like that yourself!"

Isn't It So?

As some men become prosperous they become undesirable neighbors.

Any man can make a speech, but the speech is seldom the making of him.

Love may not make the world go round, but it makes a lot of people giddy.

Unfortunately, the theory that one good turn deserves another doesn't always keep things moving.

Happiness

By DR. FRANK CRANE

When my two girls were getting ready to enter Wellesley they suddenly discovered about two weeks before their entrance examinations that they were to be quizzed upon the subject of trigonometry and knew nothing about it. But they had to pass an examination on it.

So I got them a tutor at $20 a toot and he prepared them so that they passed and entered the college.

While engaged in this study they came to me one day and asked me what a sine and co-sine were. I told them to look in the dictionary as I had to. The truth was I didn't know what those things were myself.

They looked in the dictionary and then brought the book to me saying they didn't understand the definition. Reading the definition, I replied that they had nothing on me, that I didn't understand it myself.

Some days afterward I was talking to a very distinguished mathematician and told him this story, and asked him why it was that I who flattered myself on being an intelligent man could not understand what kind of a thing a sine was.

"Why," he replied, "that is very simple. A sine isn't anything at all."

"I know," I answered. "But why put it in the dictionary?" He said: "A sine is not a thing. It is a relation between two things."

The greatest thing anybody can learn as regards their personal happiness is that it is not a thing, but a relation between two things.

We never realize what a blessing good roads are until we come to a detour and have to travel over a mile or so of bumpy dirt road.

We never know what a good job we have until we compare it with that of somebody who has a worse one. If all we have to do is to keep books and write letters it makes us feel good to see the farm hand who has to hew the wood, milk the cow, water the stock and clean out the stable.

I know a woman who is grieving to death over a wayward child for whom she has done everything possible. She needs to get her mind off of her child and think of what she possesses, of how many sources of happiness still remain to her.

The homely advice, "Count your blessings," is a good one.

We can only be happy in what we possess by contemplating those who have less and not those who have more.

So look about you, and see how many people are worse off than you are, and be thankful things are no worse.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

THERE seems to be a difference of opinion as to whether it was the men or the women who made fools of themselves down in Houston.

A woman correspondent says the very least the men deserved was to be divorced, that some of them acted sick enough to be taken to a psychiatrist, and some should have been murdered.

A male correspondent, a little less violent, insisted that the women made the convention "impossible." When the men wanted their shirts laundered, the tubs were full of "teddies." When the men wanted a drink the boys were hauling ice water to the women visitors. Whatever the men wanted, the women got it first.

Men used to go into politics to get away from home troubles. Now they are mad because if they want to be alone they have to go home.

A girl was heaved out of a fast-moving automobile by a stranger from whom she accepted a ride. And a man suggests that it should be a lesson, and that girls shouldn't accept rides from "strange gentlemen."

Gentlemen our eyes! Of course, he might have apologized and tipped his hat as he drove away!

Women are proving that whatever men do, they can do it better. But I doubt if they could drive fire trucks. Yesterday the red wagons went ringing up Fifty-seventh street in New York. And the brave firemen were hanging to the brass rail of the ladder truck with one hand, and slipping into their fire-fighting paraphernalia with the other.

At the wheel, driving like a bat on the wing, was a little man with no coat, no collar and his face extravagantly lathered for shaving. He had, evidently, been caught in the act, and without so much as wasting a second to rub the suds off on his sleeve he slid down the pole and vaulted into the driver's seat.

Can you fancy a fire big enough to induce a woman to do that?

But there are things that women do in public that jolt unmarried men into a perpetual state of bachelorhood. Only yesterday I saw one jawing her mate all the way down Fifth avenue. JAWING hard. The only thing she might have had that would license her to act that way was a marriage certificate.

The blindfold test wouldn't account for it. But he might have been blowing smoke through his ears at the same time.

Swat, Boys, Swat!

THE United States Army in the Philippines has found a new foe. The natives are fairly well pacified, the Orient is peacefully inclined toward the American flag, but insects have mobilized their forces and are devouring American fortifications.

Scientists with long-range glasses see the future of the human race a constant warfare against insects. The "Swat the Fly" crusade is a mild affair at outposts compared to the battle that will be fought in the year A. D. 19,928.

It is feared that even Secretary Kellogg could not draw up a treaty that would cause the insects to disarm.

Friends, Romans and countrymen—prepare for war. Swat the fly and bang the mosquito. It's going to be a tough world 18,000 years from now if we don't.
